Nixon, Kennedy Prepare To 'Wrap Up' Campaigns

GOP's Nominee Raps Rival's Program

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP) —Vice President Richard M. Nixon, battling for the 32 electoral votes of his home state of California, today accused Sen. John F. Kennedy of talking "synthetic bunk" on financing of the Democratic program.

Nixon, Republican candidate for the presidency, arrived in the central California community of Fresno Friday night, got a tumultuous welcome from a police-estimated crowd of 15,000 which surged out of control at times, and arranged a busy day in the state.

Traveling by plane and automobile, the vice president booked campaign speeches in San Jose, Hayward, Oakland and Van Nuys today, and was to move on to Los Angeles for a coast-to-coast television address tonight.

Nixon put out a statement contending once again that programs advocated by Kennedy, Democratic nominee for the White House, would add $15 billion a year to federal spending.

Nixon said Kennedy, in Norfolk, Va., Friday pledged that he would adhere to sound fiscal policy if elected.

"He can't have it both ways," the vice president declared. "He can't go to Virginia and be sensible for one hour of one day of one week, and then during the rest of the time espouse his platform's free spending, cheap money doctrines.

"America is a big place but not so big that such tactics go undiscovered.

"It is synthetic bunk for Mr. Kennedy to represent to the American people that his lavish spending programs can be financed, as he has sought to do, by closing tax 'loopholes' by econ-

Ike Pounds At Kennedy; Lauds Nixon

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday night declared that federal taxes will "skyrocket" or "higher prices will return" if the Democrats win the presidential election next Tuesday.

Eisenhower attacked the campaign tactics of John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate. He urged all-out support for Vice President Richard M. Nixon the Republican standard bearer.

The President told a rally of 3,100 at a dinner that he was urging support of Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, because he is concerned "for the future of the United States and your hopes for peace with justice in freedom."

The Democratic platform, the President declared in a speech televised nationally by NBC, would mean "swollen costs and mushrooming expenditures."

"Our opponents, of course, are experts at assuring us that neither higher taxes nor deficit spending will be used to meet additional costs. But all history shows the absurdity of this claim.

"This is a time for woodshed honesty — even if the American people have to apply a little woodshed discipline to get it. Unless they do, the American family will pay the costs of its family budget because either federal taxes will skyrocket once again or the cheap dollar and higher prices will return."

The President said America "must have leadership — leadership of the very finest kind that we can produce. In this campaign only in Richard Nixon and

Senator Making Final Bid For New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, looking increasingly confident, brought his hard-driving campaign to New York again today in a final bid for that state's 45 electoral votes.

Kennedy himself was still cautious — publicly — about the outcome of next Tuesday's presidential election.

"In the last three days, we've been in eight states, all of which are regarded as close," he told reporters. He listed California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Virginia, Ohio and Illinois. "I felt the tide there moving in our direction," he said. "And from all reports, our position has improved in the last seven days."

The Democratic presidential candidate has consistently said the election looked close.

But huge and thunderously enthusiastic receptions Friday in Virginia, Ohio and Chicago obviously lifted his hopes.

Kennedy's last big foray in New York City and the heavily populated surrounding areas followed a similar sweep by Vice President Richard M. Nixon last Wednesday. Kennedy chose this strategic battleground as the spot to jab at Nixon for enlisting what he called the "Republican rescue squad."

He referred primarily to President Eisenhower's appearance in New York, along with other top GOP leaders and candidates.

Kennedy drew laughs and applause when he said, "We are not electing a committee as president of the United States."

Leaving Chicago, Kennedy told correspondents on his airplane that he felt his arguments on "economic issues are hitting harder."

'Nonsense,' Reds Say Of Mr. K Ouster

Rumors In Vienna Discredited Also By West Newsmen

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Vienna was stirred for hours Friday by a newspaper's banner headlined story and related rumors that a coup had unhorsed Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The Russians finally denied it all as nonsense.

"Utter nonsense," said the Soviet embassy in Vienna.

"Stupid nonsense", said the Soviet embassy in Bonn.

"Complete nonsense," said the New York office of the Soviet news agency Tass.

That summarized their reaction to talk rounded up by the independent newspaper Abend Presse under the banner:

"Struggle for power in Moscow. Khrushchev ousted, Malenkov successor."

Its story, attributed to "usually well-informed international circle was that former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov took over the government in a coup engineered by the antiparty group. Red China was described as having a hand in the upheaval.

The anti-party group is a handful of old Communists, including Malenkov, purged by Khrushchev from high government and party posts three years ago.

Western newsmen and diplomats who investigated found no substantiation whatever in snow-laden Moscow.

The Moscow bureau of the Associated Press reported the Soviet capital gave every appearance of normality as its people prepared, in festive mood, for celebration Monday of the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

As expected, Khrushchev's portrait led all the others except Lenin's in the array of pictures hoisted on shiny new red banners throughout the city.

Record Total Of Absentee Ballots Cited

State, District And Courthouse Posts To Be Up For Decision

Stirred by intense interest in the presidential election and an unprecedented number of special questions and issues, Columbiana County will cast at least 45,000 votes in the general election Tuesday and may top the record high of 46,090 rolled up in the 1952 Eisenhower - Stevenson race.

State, county and district offices also will be at stake as a climax of a hard-fought campaign. And, although East Liverpool area voters are generally undemonstrative even in the most heated elections, a number of tangible factors point to the possibility of a record vote.

Chiefly, there's the record number of civilian absentee ballots issued by the County Election Board, coupled with an unusually high volume of enquiries about voting status. The board has handled an increasingly growing volume of phone calls from persons double-checking on their registration and asking the location of precinct polling places.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, veteran clerk of the Election Board, predicts flatly that the county's turnout "will exceed 45,000," but has not estimated how high it possibly could go. He cited heavy absentee voting as one of the principal straws in the wind.

The county has gone Republican in the last four Presidential elections. In casting the record vote in 1952, it gave Eisenhower 26,507 and Adlai Stevenson 19,057. In 1956, Ike's margin was far wider. He rolled up 28,812 to Stevenson's 14,515.

In 1944, when the fourth term issue was a big factor, Columbiana County gave Gov. Thomas E. Dewey 19,976 and Franklin D. Roosevelt 18,796. In 1958, Dewey received 17,724 and President Harry Truman was given 16,588.

Prior to 1952, the county's record vote was the 44,267 it cast in 1940 in the Presidential race between Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie. The total vote in the 1956 Presidential election was 43,727. It included 8,937 East Liverpool votes. In 1952, the city cast 10,233. East Liverpool has 11,376 qualified for Tuesday's election.

The election board said it hasn't totaled the number of civilian absentee and disabled ballots which were returned before the deadline at 4 p. m. yesterday. However, it estimated "the greater part" were returned.

To help handle the expected heavy vote, the Election Board has assigned 2 extra workers to each of its 152 polling places, boosting the total to 8 per precinct. The precincts will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m.

Columbiana County will elect two state representatives, two commissioners, sheriff, recorder, probate judge, clerk of courts, prosecuting attorney, treasurer, engineer and coroner.

The races for state representative, commissioner and sheriff probably will draw most interest. There are 10 Republican candidates and 11 Democrats on the county end of the ballot.

Because of periodic reapportionment which occurs about once in 10 years, Columbiana County will send two representatives to the General Assembly for the 1961-62 term.

The Republican candidates are Rep. Clarence L. (Dutch) Wetzel of Lisbon, seeking a sixth term, and J. Warren Bettis of Salineville, assistant county prosecuting attorney.

The Democratic nominees are Benjamin Barrett of Salem, a high school teacher and former football coach, and John H. Todd, former Lisbon mayor.

Beaver Voters Will Eye Race For Congress

State Senator And Assembly Contests Also To Be Decided

Aside from the great interest in the race for President, Beaver County voters are expected to turn their attention to the congressional contest in Tuesday's balloting.

There are no local or county offices at stake, nor any special issues.

Beaver's turnout will help decide the contest between Rep. Frank M. Clark of Bessemer, incumbent Democrat, and Republican challenger, Dr. Fred W. Obley, out for the 25th Congressional District seat. Three counties — Beaver, Lawrence and Butler — make up the district.

Rep. Clark is seeking his fourth term. Dr. Obley is from Ellwood city.

Unlike her sister states, Pennsylvania has independent candidates running against the Nixon-Lodge and Kennedy-Johnson tickets.

Voters will also elect a state senator, one or two representatives to the General Assembly, according to the district, a judge of the Superior Court, an auditor general and a state treasurer.

For president and vice president, the ballot also lists Eric Hass and Georgia Cozzini, Socialist Labor, and Farrell Dobbs and Myra Tanner Weiss, Workers, for president and vice president.

Running for senator in the General Assembly from the 47th District are John Carl Miller, Democrat, and Arthur W. Pettibon, Republican. Two representatives in the General Assembly from the 2nd District, which includes Midland and South Side and lower Beaver County will be elected. The aspirants are Charles D. Stone and H. Beryl Klein, both Democrats, and Alan Daniel Webb and Willard S. Simmons, Republicans.

One representative will be named from the 1st District, which include Ambridge, Monaca and upper valley area. Robert K. Hamilton, Democrat, and Paul W. Lloyd, Republican, are the candidates.

Nearly 500 applications for civilian absentee ballots and over 500 for servicemen were received by the deadline Tuesday, William B. Smith, director of the Bureau of Elections, said.

Midland's 3,198 voters and others of nearby Beaver County communities will be among the county's 95,625 eligible to vote. The polls will be open Tuesday from 7 a. m.

Ware Groups Recess Talks For Contract

Unable to reach an agreement on a new contract, U. S. Potters Association and International Brotherhood of Operative Potters negotiators recessed their Cleveland meeting Friday.

The conferees were returning to their homes and a USPA spokesman said today the talks were "recessed until later this month." No date was specified as to when they will be resumed.

The three days of discussion on a new contract with a wage increase and fringe benefits requested by the pottery union apparently followed the pattern of the 10-day session last month in New York — no results. The parley in Cleveland began Wednesday.

Thursday, a representative of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service was requested to participate and the mediator, Clair Willmeth, said at Cleveland last night "no progress was reached." The move to recess followed.

Joseph M. Wells Jr. and John T. Hall are co-chairmen of the USPA's labor committee which has been negotiating for a new pact and the union delegation is headed by E. L. Wheatley, Brotherhood president. The current contract expires Dec. 1, covering about 4,900 workers in 9 plants.

The union originally asked a "substantial increase," and the manufacturers' association countered with a proposed roll-back that the union said would represent a 6-cent wage cut.

Freight Train 'Shears' Auto

Man Injured Slightly In Crossing Mishap

A 50-year-old Salineville area man escaped with minor injuries when his car was sheared by a Pennsylvania Railroad locomotive at a crossing a mile east of Salineville early this morning. The "deadhead" train consisted of the diesel engine and a caboose.

Fred Beadnell of Maple Hill Rd., Salineville R. D. 1, drove onto the Humphrey Crossing on the Maple Hill Rd. and was struck by the westbound freight about 6:50 a. m.

The impact sheared off the rear of Beadnell's 1954 Nash and the front end spun around and crashed into the side of the engine. Al-

Judge Scores 'Deadlocked' Finch Jury

Says Murder Was Committed; Attacks Defendants' Stories

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jurors are still divided, but the judge has told them in a taut and turbulent session of the Finch trial that he believes a murder was committed and he doesn't believe the defendants.

As they opened their 17th day of deliberation at the second trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff today, the jurors had these electrifying developments behind them:

1. Superior Court Judge LeRoy Dawson, interrupting deliberations Friday, called in the jury and said: "The explanation given by the defendant Finch as to the circumstances surrounding the firing of the fatal shot to me does not sound reasonable in any of its aspects. And it appears to me to have been concocted by him in an attempt to justify what is shown by the evidence, in my opinion, to be the wilful and deliberate taking of a human life"—that of the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean Finch.

2. Defense attorney Grant B. Cooper twice jumped from his chair to object to the judge's statement—accusing him of invading the jury's province—and was twice cited by Dawson for contempt.

Youth To Be Sentenced In Manslaughter Case

Bruno Porto Jr. of Smiths Ferry and Thomas Charles Merical of Brighton Township will be sentenced in Beaver County Court Monday, the office of District Atty. Richard P. Steward, reported.

Porto, 18, was convicted recently on a charge of involuntary manslaughter. He was involved in a three-car accident Jan. 30 on Route 68 near Midland in which Thomas S. May, 50, of the Elks Home here and Mark Deering Eaton of Burgettstown, a passenger in the May auto, were killed.

Merical, 30, who entered a plea, will be sentenced on charges of rape and incest. He gave himself up Aug. 15 at East Liverpool to Beaver County authorities after fleeing shots by arresting officers and escaping five days. Charges were filed by his wife, Mrs. Donna Merical.

Harriett Buchanan of Harmony Township will be sentenced on a charge of embezzlement.

Auditor Heard In Gas Theft

Court Held Today For Baltimore Man

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff conducted an unusual Saturday session of Municipal Court this morning as a convenience for a Baltimore man who came to East Liverpool Friday to testify as a prosecution witness in the case of a Chester man charged with theft of gasoline from a River Rd. oil company terminal.

The witness is Samuel Hesterberg, an auditor for the American Oil Co., from whose terminal James Ronald Glover, 104 Church St., Chester, is accused of theft of 500 gallons of gasoline on Oct. 19.

Glover's preliminary hearing on the grand larceny charge originally was scheduled yesterday before Judge Chertoff and the Baltimore man arrived here to testify. But the hearing was continued until

Heavy Turnout Predicted For Balloting In Hancock

The attention focused on West Virginia's economic problems in the presidential campaigns is expected to result in a heavy turnout at the polls for Hancock County's general election Tuesday.

The presidential race has captured the most attention of county voters, but interest also is running high in the races for governor and county sheriff, in particular, political leaders said.

Hancock County, considered a Democratic stronghold for years, has 22,395 eligible voters — 14,182 Democrats, 8,164 Republicans and 49 independents.

The county ticket shows races for sheriff, prosecuting attorney, assessor, commissioner and member of the House of Delegates. Hancock voters also will have a voice in electing a state senator from the 1st Senatorial District, a congressman from the 1st Congressional District, and two judges from the 1st Judicial District.

The districts of Grant, Clay and Butler show contests for constables and justices of the peace.

Joseph H. Manypenny, 41, of New Cumberland, Democrat, and Silas Boley of Weirton, Republican, are seeking the post of sheriff to succeed Clayton H. Hobbs of Chester.

Manypenny is an Army veteran with service in the Military Police, served as New Cumberland police chief for 12 years and is a former deputy sheriff.

Boley, a member of the County Board of Education for 18 years, is chairman of the Hancock County Selective Service Board and is a carpenter-foreman in the tin mill of the Weirton Steel Co., where he has been employed 35 years.

Atty. Floyd R. Tarr, Democrat, and Atty. A. J. Rosenshine, Republican, are the candidates for prosecutor.

Atty. Tarr is Weirton city solicitor and a graduate of the law school of West Virginia University. Atty. Rosenshine received his law degree from Boston University in 1924 and was admitted to the West Virginia Bar Association in 1925.

Atty. Frank A. Pietranton has served two terms as prosecutor and was defeated by Atty. Tarr in the May 10 primary.

Candidates for assessor are Edward L. Suplee, incumbent Republican, and Anthony Leon, Democrat. Both reside in Weirton.

Suplee, 50, has served as assessor since 1956 and also is manager of Bowers Supply Co. in Weirton. Leon is a former professional football player and now is a Weirton businessman.

Candidates for commissioner are David N. Thomas, incumbent Republican and Weirton bank executive, and James Finley, Democrat, also of Weirton. Thomas has been associated with the Bank of Weirton for 36 years and is president of County Court.

Miss Callie Tsapis, a Chester and Weirton attorney, is seeking re-election to the House of Delegates on the Democratic ticket and is opposed by Lyle Miller, a Weirton Steel worker and Republican.

Miss Tsapis is a former assistant county prosecutor and was graduated in 1948 from West Virginia University where she completed her law training.

Atty. Ruth Cox Turner of Chester, Republican, and William Tompos, Democrat, of Weirton are candidates for the state senator

Special Programs Set

City Schools To Observe American Education Week

East Liverpool public schools have scheduled special programs next week in observance of American Education Week.

Parents have been invited to visit classrooms any day although all schools but Lincoln are stressing a specific day.

The observance will open with a program Monday night at 7:30 in Memorial Auditorium for parents of high school students. East Junior High and Westgate elementary and junior high have programs scheduled Tuesday night.

Taft, McKinley, Pleasant Heights, Garfield and Neville are urging classroom visitations on Wednesday with LaCroft, Glenmoor, Horace Mann and Klondyke setting Thursday as the particular day for visitations.

The high school program will begin at 7:30 p. m. Monday and is scheduled to conclude about 9, Principal George Hargraves said.

A 30-minute film, "Mike Makes His Mark," will be shown after which parents will be given an opportunity to visit 4 different groups of teachers for 10-minute discussion periods on the work of the individual departments.

The discussion periods will give the teachers an opportunity to explain to parents what is being undertaken in the various classes and allow parents to ask questions concerning specific areas.

No students will attend, but the entire faculty will be present, Hargraves said. To enable all teachers to attend, high school classes will be dismissed an hour early.

Hargraves is co-ordinator of the program and the faculty committee includes Ira C. Sayre, chairman, Blake Boyd, Charles Ridenour, Charles DeJulius, Wilbert Moore, Michael Misconish and Frank Chan.

The presidential race has captured the most attention of county voters, but interest also is running high in the races for governor and county sheriff, in particular, political leaders said.

Hancock County, considered a Democratic stronghold for years, has 22,395 eligible voters — 14,182 Democrats, 8,164 Republicans and 49 independents.

The county ticket shows races for sheriff, prosecuting attorney, assessor, commissioner and member of the House of Delegates. Hancock voters also will have a voice in electing a state senator from the 1st Senatorial District, a congressman from the 1st Congressional District, and two judges from the 1st Judicial District.

The districts of Grant, Clay and Butler show contests for constables and justices of the peace.

Joseph H. Manypenny, 41, of New Cumberland, Democrat, and Silas Boley of Weirton, Republican, are seeking the post of sheriff to succeed Clayton H. Hobbs of Chester.

Manypenny is an Army veteran with service in the Military Police, served as New Cumberland police chief for 12 years and is a former deputy sheriff.

Boley, a member of the County Board of Education for 18 years, is chairman of the Hancock County Selective Service Board and is a carpenter-foreman in the tin mill of the Weirton Steel Co., where he has been employed 35 years.

Atty. Floyd R. Tarr, Democrat, and Atty. A. J. Rosenshine, Republican, are the candidates for prosecutor.

Atty. Tarr is Weirton city solicitor and a graduate of the law school of West Virginia University. Atty. Rosenshine received his law degree from Boston University in 1924 and was admitted to the West Virginia Bar Association in 1925.

Atty. Frank A. Pietranton has served two terms as prosecutor and was defeated by Atty. Tarr in the May 10 primary.

Candidates for assessor are Edward L. Suplee, incumbent Republican, and Anthony Leon, Democrat. Both reside in Weirton.

Suplee, 50, has served as assessor since 1956 and also is manager of Bowers Supply Co. in Weirton. Leon is a former professional football player and now is a Weirton businessman.

Candidates for commissioner are David N. Thomas, incumbent Republican and Weirton bank executive, and James Finley, Democrat, also of Weirton. Thomas has been associated with the Bank of Weirton for 36 years and is president of County Court.

Miss Callie Tsapis, a Chester and Weirton attorney, is seeking re-election to the House of Delegates on the Democratic ticket and is opposed by Lyle Miller, a Weirton Steel worker and Republican.

Miss Tsapis is a former assistant county prosecutor and was graduated in 1948 from West Virginia University where she completed her law training.

Hancock Taverns Closed For Election

Sheriff Clayton H. Hobbs today ordered all Hancock County taverns to close Tuesday for the general election.

The establishments may resume business at 7:30 Tuesday night when the polls close. Restaurants that sell beer may remain open but may not sell any until 7:30 p. m., the sheriff said.

Beaver Voters Will Eye Race For Congress

State Senator And Assembly Contests Also To Be Decided

Aside from the great interest in the race for President, Beaver County voters are expected to turn their attention to the congressional contest in Tuesday's balloting.

There are no local or county offices at stake, nor any special issues.

Beaver's turnout will help decide the contest between Rep. Frank M. Clark of Bessemer, incumbent Democrat, and Republican challenger, Dr. Fred W. Obley, out for the 25th Congressional District seat. Three counties — Beaver, Lawrence and Butler — make up the district.

Rep. Clark is seeking his fourth term. Dr. Obley is from Ellwood city.

Unlike her sister states, Pennsylvania has independent candidates running against the Nixon-Lodge and Kennedy-Johnson tickets.

Voters will also elect a state senator, one or two representatives to the General Assembly, according to the district, a judge of the Superior Court, an auditor general and a state treasurer.

For president and vice president, the ballot also lists Eric Hass and Georgia Cozzini, Socialist Labor, and Farrell Dobbs and Myra Tanner Weiss, Workers, for president and vice president.

Running for senator in the General Assembly from the 47th District are John Carl Miller, Democrat, and Arthur W. Pettibon, Republican. Two representatives in the General Assembly from the 2nd District, which includes Midland and South Side and lower Beaver County will be elected. The aspirants are Charles D. Stone and H. Beryl Klein, both Democrats, and Alan Daniel Webb and Willard S. Simmons, Republicans.

One representative will be named from the 1st District, which include Ambridge, Monaca and upper valley area. Robert K. Hamilton, Democrat, and Paul W. Lloyd, Republican, are the candidates.

Nearly 500 applications for civilian absentee ballots and over 500 for servicemen were received by the deadline Tuesday, William B. Smith, director of the Bureau of Elections, said.

Midland's 3,198 voters and others of nearby Beaver County communities will be among the county's 95,625 eligible to vote. The polls will be open Tuesday from 7 a. m.

Ware Groups Recess Talks For Contract

Unable to reach an agreement on a new contract, U. S. Potters Association and International Brotherhood of Operative Potters negotiators recessed their Cleveland meeting Friday.

The conferees were returning to their homes and a USPA spokesman said today the talks were "recessed until later this month." No date was specified as to when they will be resumed.

The three days of discussion on a new contract with a wage increase and fringe benefits requested by the pottery union apparently followed the pattern of the 10-day session last month in New York — no results. The parley in Cleveland began Wednesday.

Thursday, a representative of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service was requested to participate and the mediator, Clair Willmeth, said at Cleveland last night "no progress was reached." The move to recess followed.

Joseph M. Wells Jr. and John T. Hall are co - chairmen of the USPA's labor committee which has been negotiating for a new pact and the union delegation is headed by E. L. Wheatley, Brotherhood president. The current contract expires Dec. 1, covering about 4,900 workers in 9 plants.

The union originally asked a "substantial increase," and the manufacturers' association countered with a proposed roll-back that the union said would represent a 6-cent wage cut.

Freight Train 'Shears' Auto

Man Injured Slightly In Crossing Mishap

A 50-year-old Salineville area man escaped with minor injuries when his car was sheared by a Pennsylvania Railroad locomotive at a crossing a mile east of Salineville early this morning. The "deadhead" train consisted of the diesel engine and a caboose.

Fred Beadnell of Maple Hill Rd., Salineville R. D. 1, drove onto the Humphrey Crossing on the Maple Hill Rd. and was struck by the westbound freight about 6:50 a. m.

The impact sheared off the rear of Beadnell's 1954 Nash and the front end spun around and crashed into the side of the engine. Al-

Judge Scores 'Deadlocked' Finch Jury

Says Murder Was Committed; Attacks Defendants' Stories

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jurors are still divided, but the judge has told them in a taut and turbulent session of the Finch trial that he believes a murder was committed and he doesn't believe the defendants.

As they opened their 17th day of deliberation at the second trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff today, the jurors had these electrifying developments behind them:

1. Superior Court Judge LeRoy Dawson, interrupting deliberations Friday, called in the jury and said: "The explanation given by the defendant Finch as to the circumstances surrounding the firing of the fatal shot to me does not sound reasonable in any of its aspects. And it appears to me to have been concocted by him in an attempt to justify what is shown by the evidence, in my opinion, to be the wilful and deliberate taking of a human life"—that of the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean Finch.

2. Defense attorney Grant B. Cooper twice jumped from his chair to object to the judge's statement—accusing him of invading the jury's province—and was twice cited by Dawson for contempt.

Auditor Heard In Gas Theft

Chertoff conducted an unusual Saturday session of Municipal Court this morning as a convenience for a Baltimore man who came to East Liverpool Friday to testify as a prosecution witness in the case of a Chester man charged with theft of gasoline from a River Rd. oil company terminal.

Glover's preliminary hearing on the grand larceny charge originally was scheduled yesterday before Judge Chertoff and the Baltimore man arrived here to testify. But the hearing was continued until

Special Programs Set

City Schools To Observe American Education Week

East Liverpool public schools have scheduled special programs next week in observance of American Education Week.

Parents have been invited to visit classrooms any day although all schools but Lincoln are stressing a specific day.

The observance will open with a program Monday night at 7:30 in Memorial Auditorium for parents of high school students. East Junior High and Westgate elementary and junior high have programs scheduled Tuesday night.

Taft, McKinley, Pleasant Heights, Garfield and Neville are urging classroom visitations on Wednesday with LaCroft, Glenmoor, Horace Mann and Klondyke setting Thursday as the particular day for visitations.

The high school program will begin at 7:30 p. m. Monday and is scheduled to conclude about 9, Principal George Hargraves said.

A 30-minute film, "Mike Makes His Mark," will be shown after which parents will be given an opportunity to visit 4 different groups of teachers for 10-minute discussion periods on the work of the individual departments.

The discussion periods will give the teachers an opportunity to explain to parents what is being undertaken in the various classes and allow parents to ask questions concerning specific areas.

No students will attend, but the entire faculty will be present, Hargraves said. To enable all teachers to attend, high school classes will be dismissed an hour early.

Hargraves is co-ordinator of the program and the faculty committee includes Ira C. Sayre, chairman, Blake Boyd, Charles Rideour, Charles DeJulius, Wilbert Moore, Michael Misconish and Frank Chan.

Schools Plan Week Events

A similar night school for parents is scheduled Tuesday at 7 at East Junior High.

Principal Clarence G. Means said parents will be given an opportunity to sit in their child's class. Each class will last 15 minutes with the teacher discussing the course and then answering questions. The work of the students will be displayed in each room.

No students will attend the meeting, but parents have been sent an invitation and will be given a class schedule to follow, Means said.

The Westgate Elementary Parent-Teacher Association will hold its meeting Tuesday night from 7:30 to 9 with the theme, "What We Want from Our Schools — How Can We Get It?"

Supt. Ralph W. Betts will be the principal speaker, discussing the new city freeway and how it will affect the school, principally in regard to children's safety.

Following the talk, Clyde McCain, president, will conduct business.

Following business, six grade level meetings will be held to give parents an opportunity to become familiar with the work and activities of each grade. Miss Mildred McGregor, principal for the elementary section, said.

In the Junior High, the program will include a regular school day schedule with shortened classes starting at 7:30, Carl Pelini, assistant principal said.

An orientation meeting will be held in the auditorium when the purpose of the junior high is explained. In the 10-minute class meetings which follow, objectives of the various teaching areas and how they are achieved will be discussed, Pelini said.

At Lincoln, students have written parents and friends inviting them to attend classes any day, Principal Milton Watson said.

Children's work will be displayed along with projects and activities. Tentative plans call for showing a film dealing with education.

A similar program will be followed at Taft, Watson said, but visitation is preferred on Wednesday.

Neville is emphasizing Wednesday for parents' visitation with classes being dismissed at 3 p. m. and the monthly meeting of the Home and School Association being held, Principal William E. Savors said.

A film strip showing activities at the National Education Association meeting last summer in Los Angeles will be shown. Refreshments will be served by the teachers.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. Ronald Rearic, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Church. Business will be conducted by James Stickler, president.

Classes are stressing regular work at McKinley along with special bulletin board displays, Ruth B. Armstrong, principal said. Parents have been urged to visit the school on Wednesday.

Parents also are urged to attend classes Wednesday at Pleasant Heights. A tea for homeroom mothers will be held Thursday afternoon from 3 to 3:45 following their meeting, the principal said.

Regular work will be conducted in each class at Garfield with parents invited to visit on Wednesday, Miss Ann Johnston, principal, said.

Thursday has been set aside for parents' visitation at Horace Mann Miss Johnston said. The special features will include a choral reading, "Mr. Zero," by the third grade taught by Mrs. Ruth Okazaki, and an English play, "The Verb That Ran Away," by the fifth grade taught by Ila Watkin.

Parents may visit the LaCroft and Glenmoor buildings any day, Miss Elizabeth Coleman, principal, said, but open houses are scheduled Thursday afternoon when a special film will be shown in addition to classroom visits and displays of students' work.

A tea for parents will be held at 3 p. m. Thursday at Klondyke School followed by the PTA meeting, Savors, who also is principal there, said. Parents have been urged to visit classes on Thursday.

The LaCroft Home and School Association will use "Better Reading" for its theme Tuesday night at 7:45 in connection with American Education Week.

Miss Frances Jones, librarian at Carnegie Public Library, will speak on "Guiding Your Child's Reading." Don Derrington, president, will preside.

Robert Gray, field executive of the Cherokee Boy Scout district, will speak on scouting. Refreshments will be provided by the third grade mothers headed by Mrs. William L. Sisley.

Theft

next Thursday because Atty. George A. Aronson, defense counsel, was busy in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

Rather than require the witness to return here from Baltimore again next week, Judge Chertoff agreed to open the preliminary hearing at 9 this morning to hear the auditor's testimony and permit cross-examination by the defense.

When the hearing opened, Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, one of Glover's defense counsel, entered a not guilty plea. Atty. Aronson then moved for dismissal of the affidavit on the grounds it was insufficient but Judge Chertoff overruled the motion.

In his testimony, Hesterberg, who is assistant supervisor of sales accounting, said the selling price of gasoline at the bulk plant at the time of the alleged theft was .1364 cent per gallon, excluding federal and state taxes.

Hesterberg testified he did not know if the state tax had been paid.

In response to another question from Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, Hesterberg testified the company's actual cost per gallon at the bulk plant was .13077 cent.

The defense declined to cross-examine Hesterberg and the hearing ended. Atty. Jason H. Brookes represented the company but did not participate in the hearing.

The balance of the preliminary hearing will be conducted later. Although it has been set for next Thursday, Solicitor Cooper is scheduled to appear that day before the 7th District Court of Appeals, so a new date may have to be set.

Glover is one of four facing charges in connection with alleged wholesale thefts of gasoline from the American Oil Co. terminal.

though the car was demolished, the train was not derailed.

The sedan was cut in half. The rear part was shoved 150 yards west of the crossing and the front part, with Beadnell still at the wheel, was pushed 10 feet east of the crossing.

Chief Deputy Sheriff James Miller, who investigated, said the engineer, C. H. Riffle of Cleveland, said he was traveling about 35 miles an hour. The conductor, H. A. Chorpenning of Shaker Heights, said they were en route from Mingo Junction to Cleveland in a run known as "deadheading."

The car was a total loss and damage was estimated at $400, Deputy Miller said.

The train was delayed about 45 minutes. Witnesses said it was raining and visibility at the crossing was poor.

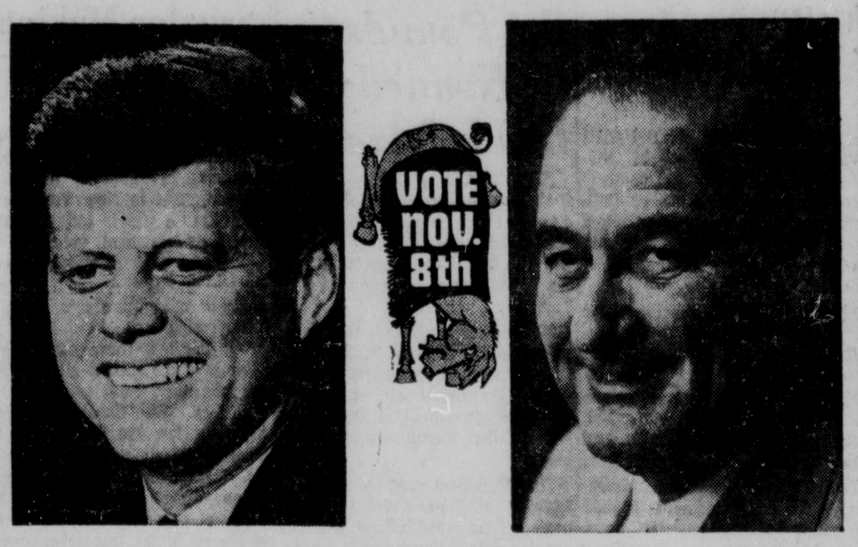
After a Careful Study of BOTH Candidates an Independent Newspaper,
The NEW YORK TIMES
VOTES FOR KENNEDY



JOHN F. KENNEDY — LYNDON B. JOHNSON

Reprint of an editorial, New York Times, Thursday, October 27, 1960

An Editorial

The Post-Gazette Choice

ON NOVEMBER 8 the American voter will choose the next President of the United States. But in great measure he will be doing more than that, for he will also be electing the man upon whom will devolve leadership of the free world in a period of turmoil, confusion, and peril.

Before making our choice we, as an independent newspaper, have waited to see the candidates in action in this district. We have heard the four so-called debates and we have talked personally with the candidates to probe more deeply into their respective positions.

Our decision is to break with a long precedent and to cast our ballot for Senator John F. Kennedy and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson.

We feel the election of Senator Kennedy is most likely to enable the United States to go forward at home and abroad, to insure the peace and well-being of its citizens and the maintenance of peace in the world.

Although the United States is the strongest nation on earth it cannot be denied that our position relative to the Soviet Union has slipped in recent years. We feel that the bold leadership of Senator Kennedy would help to maintain our margin over the Soviet Union. In denying that America's relative position has slipped, Vice President Nixon has put himself in the position of denying what seems to us to be obvious.

Our domestic economy, though sound, has areas of weakness. Both candidates have programs to deal with these areas, but Senator Kennedy seems to us more concerned about the pockets of chronic unemployment and urban problems in general, for instance, than is the Vice President.

Senator Kennedy's attitude toward medical care for the aged and aid to education—in fact, his whole attitude toward our domestic, as well as foreign problems — more nearly reflects the Post-Gazette's thinking than does the attitude of Mr. Nixon.

If we have any reservation in this endorsement it is that the Democratic Party's attitude toward monetary policy is not all the Post-Gazette might desire. However we are convinced that Senator Kennedy believes as we do in the necessity of maintaining a sound dollar to avoid crippling inflation.

As the New York Times notes, "in matters of fiscal policy Mr. Kennedy himself has been one of the more prudent Democrats in Congress."

We have been disquieted in the past by what seemed to us Mr. Nixon's too great readiness to play fast and loose with the truth on any issue that he senses may have voter appeal. Thus we believe he has made more of the Quemoy-Matsu issue than the facts warrant and his imputed softness toward Communism to Mr. Kennedy. That imputation is indefensible. In fact, the White House was forced to come to Mr. Nixon's rescue in the Quemoy-Matsu case, when he seemed to have painted himself into a corner.

In this the "New" Nixon too closely resembles the "Old" Nixon, whose instinct for the jugular and whose rabbit punches in the clinches we frequently have deplored.

We feel it is silly, even outrageous, to imply that Senator Kennedy would not present as stern a face to Communism as Mr. Nixon. The American people know that it takes more than an index finger pointed at Mr. Khrushchev's chest to deal with the Communist world.

If, as we believe, Mr. Nixon has not measured up to the challenge of the times, Senator Kennedy — much less well known when the campaign began —has clearly made a tremendous impression on the American people.

He seems to possess more than a trace of the magnetism which Franklin D. Roosevelt possessed in so marked a degree. With it he has a toughness of fibre an intellectuality, which give us confidence in his leadership.

We do not have the feeling, as we watch and hear him, that he is selling himself to the voters as he might sell soap, that a principle is only good if it brings him votes. He makes bold to speak about the difficulties ahead and the sacrifices that may be needed to overcome them.

As we have considered the two candidates, we have come to much the same conclusion as Walter Lippmann, who finds that "Mr. Nixon is an indecisive man who lacks that inner conviction and self-confidence which are the mark of a natural leader and governor of men."

We believe that John F. Kennedy has that inner conviction and self-confidence and will bring to the White House the decisiveness of leadership that it lately has lacked.

The candidates have much in common. Both are aggressive, both have come up through the hard school of practical politics.

But the time demand more than an adroit politician. They demand guidance and inspiration of the kind that we are confident Senator Kennedy would provide.

In his testimony, Hesterberg, who is assistant supervisor of sales accounting, said the selling price of gasoline at the bulk plant at the time of the alleged theft was .1364 cent per gallon, excluding federal and state taxes.

Hesterberg testified he did not know if the state tax had been paid.

In response to another question from Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, Hesterberg testified the company's actual cost per gallon at the bulk plant was .13077 cent.

The defense declined to cross-examine Hesterberg and the hearing ended. Atty. Jason H. Brookes represented the company but did not participate in the hearing.

The balance of the preliminary hearing will be conducted later. Although it has been set for next Thursday, Solicitor Cooper is scheduled to appear that day before the 7th District Court of Appeals, so a new date may have to be set.

Glover is one of four facing charges in connection with alleged wholesale thefts of gasoline from the American Oil Co. terminal.

though the car was demolished, the train was not derailed.

The sedan was cut in half. The rear part was shoved 150 yards west of the crossing and the front part, with Beadnell still at the wheel, was pushed 10 feet east of the crossing.

Chief Deputy Sheriff James Miller, who investigated, said the engineer, C. H. Riffle of Cleveland, said he was traveling about 35 miles an hour. The conductor, H. A. Chorpenning of Shaker Heights, said they were en route from Mingo Junction to Cleveland in a run known as "deadheading."

The car was a total loss and damage was estimated at $400, Deputy Miller said.

The train was delayed about 45 minutes. Witnesses said it was raining and visibility at the crossing was poor.

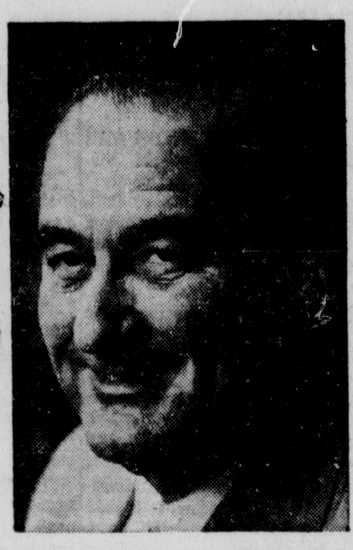
After a Careful Study of BOTH Candidates an Independent Newspaper,

The NEW YORK TIMES VOTES FOR KENNEDY



JOHN F. KENNEDY — LYNDON B. JOHNSON

The Post-Gazette Choice

ON NOVEMBER 8 the American voter will choose the next President of the United States. But in great measure he will be doing more than that, for he will also be electing the man upon whom will devolve leadership of the free world in a period of turmoil, confusion, and peril.

Before making our choice we, as an independent newspaper, have waited to see the candidates in action in this district. We have heard the four so-called debates and we have talked personally with the candidates to probe more deeply into their respective positions.

Our decision is to break with a long precedent and to cast our ballot for Senator John F. Kennedy and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson.

We feel the election of Senator Kennedy is most likely to enable the United States to go forward at home and abroad, to insure the peace and well-being of its citizens and the maintenance of peace in the world.

Although the United States is the strongest nation on earth it cannot be denied that our position relative to the Soviet Union has slipped in recent years. We feel that the bold leadership of Senator Kennedy would help to maintain our margin over the Soviet Union. In denying that America's relative position has slipped, Vice President Nixon has put himself in the position of denying what seems to us to be obvious.

Our domestic economy, though sound, has areas of weakness. Both candidates have programs to deal with these areas, but Senator Kennedy seems to us more concerned about the pockets of chronic unemployment and urban problems in general, for instance, than is the Vice President.

Senator Kennedy's attitude toward medical care for the aged and aid to education—in fact, his whole attitude toward our domestic, as well as foreign problems — more nearly reflects the Post-Gazette's thinking than does the attitude of Mr. Nixon.

If we have any reservation in this endorsement it is that the Democratic Party's attitude toward monetary policy is not all the Post-Gazette might desire. However we are convinced that Senator Kennedy believes as we do in the necessity of maintaining a sound dollar to avoid crippling inflation.

As the New York Times notes, "in matters of fiscal policy Mr. Kennedy himself has been one of the more prudent Democrats in Congress."

We have been disquieted in the past by what seemed to us Mr. Nixon's too great readiness to play fast and loose with the truth on any issue that he senses may have voter appeal. Thus we believe he has made more of the Quemoy-Matsu issue than the facts warrant and his imputed softness toward Communism to Mr. Kennedy. That imputation is indefensible. In fact, the White House was forced to come to Mr. Nixon's rescue in the Quemoy-Matsu case, when he seemed to have painted himself into a corner.

In this the "New" Nixon too closely resembles the "Old" Nixon, whose instinct for the jugular and whose rabbit punches in the clinches we frequently have deplored.

We feel it is silly, even outrageous, to implay that Senator Kennedy would not present as stern a face to Communism as Mr. Nixon. The American people know that it takes more than an index finger pointed at Mr. Khrushchev's chest to deal with the Communist world.

If, as we believe, Mr. Nixon has not measured up to the challenge of the times, Senator Kennedy — much less well known when the campaign began —has clearly made a tremendous impression on the American people.

He seems to possess more than a trace of the magnetism which Franklin D. Roosevelt possessed in so marked a degree. With it he has a toughness of fibre an intellectuality, which give us confidence in his leadership.

We do not have the feeling, as we watch and hear him, that he is selling himself to the voters as he might sell soap, that a principle is only good if it brings him votes. He makes bold to speak about the difficulties ahead and the sacrifices that may be needed to overcome them.

As we have considered the two candidates, we have come to much the same conclusion as Walter Lippmann, who finds that "Mr. Nixon is an indecisive man who lacks that inner conviction and self-confidence which are the mark of a natural leader and governor of men."

We believe that John F. Kennedy has that inner conviction and self-confidence and will bring to the White House the decisiveness of leadership that it lately has lacked.

The candidates have much in common. Both are aggressive, both have come up through the hard school of practical politics.

But the time demand more than an adroit politician. They demand guidance and inspiration of the kind that we are confident Senator Kennedy would provide.

omies in administration or by economic growth."

This latest Nixon attack in this major battleground state picked up where Nixon left off Friday in his steadily sharpening criticism of his rival.

In Spokane, Wash., the vice president charged that Kennedy's campaign promises add up to "The cruelest hoax any politician has ever tried to foist on the American people."

The Democratic program, Nixon added, "would destroy the stability of our economic system."

Specifically, the vice president said every worker's take home pay would be cut drastically, food prices would go up sharply, and "all Americans would have to pay more taxes."

Kennedy

He hammered at unemployment, farm income, and the possibility of "a third recession" all through the Middle West. Coming into New York, he emphasized a bread-and-butter issue — the cost of living.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a woman's luncheon in Bronx County, Kennedy hinted that, if elected, he might appoint a woman to serve as a "consumer counsel."

Kennedy's final appearance in Chicago Friday night was one of the biggest, noisiest, most colorful and highly organized of the whole campaign.

omies in administration or by economic growth."

This latest Nixon attack in this major battleground state picked up where Nixon left off Friday in his steadily sharpening criticism of his rival.

In Spokane, Wash., the vice president charged that Kennedy's campaign promises add up to "The cruelest hoax any politician has ever tried to foist on the American people."

The Democratic program, Nixon added, "would destroy the stability of our economic system."

Specifically, the vice president said every worker's take home pay would be cut drastically, food prices would go up sharply, and "all Americans would have to pay more taxes."

Kennedy

He hammered at unemployment, farm income, and the possibility of "a third recession" all through the Middle West. Coming into New York, he emphasized a bread-and-butter issue — the cost of living.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a woman's luncheon in Bronx County, Kennedy hinted that, if elected, he might appoint a woman to serve as a "consumer counsel."

Kennedy's final appearance in Chicago Friday night was one of the biggest, noisiest, most colorful and highly organized of the whole campaign.

Tax Faces Voters For Third Time

For the third time in three years, the question of a municipal income tax will be placed before the voters of East Liverpool.

Several reasons have been advanced for the levy's defeat on the two previous occasions. The one kicked about the most was that the wrong approach had been taken in presenting the issue, many claiming it had been "crammed down" the people's throats.

Regardless of the past, such a charge can't be justified this time. The moving force behind the present tax proposition was a citizens' committee. Pressure has been lacking from any other direction. The matter was initiated by the people and rests with the people. It's for them and them alone to decide Tuesday.

The Review endorsed the tax both times previously — with the firm belief that additional money was needed to get the ball rolling on necessary municipal programs and with the conviction that such a tax was the fairest way to raise it.

Our views remain unchanged. The money is still needed and the suggested tax still seems the fairest and most logical way to meet the need.

While Council has refrained from taking a stand on the issue, it has — upon request earlier this year — outlined a tentative program for which it thinks any such revenue could be used to the best advantage of the city.

Street surfacing and repairs, sewer projects, an expanded recreation program for all, improved street lighting, more off-street parking lots and preparation of a master plan to guide the city's growth were among the points emphasized. All make sense and all fit in with a progressive community.

We hope the voters see fit to give the levy overwhelming approval Tuesday. If they don't, they can expect little in the way of improved streets and the other projects that would go toward making East Liverpool a better place in which to live.

We'll Continue To Take Exception

Remembering 1948, we still believe it's best to wait for the election returns before paying off bets.

Or, to paraphrase what baseball managers say when it looks as if their teams didn't have a chance, the Republicans "will show up at the ball park" next Tuesday.

It's an interesting thing that has taken place in this country since the Literary Digest began to foretell the outcome of presidential election with its once-famous poll based on telephone listings. Year by year, through disappointment and triumph, pollsters have been hacking away at their technique of crystal-balling election returns.

Admittedly, they have made progress. The candidates, themselves, rely on them as heavily as they rely on throat lozenges. Theoretically, nothing is left to chance. A politician always bets on a sure thing these days. He doesn't even throw his hat in the ring until pollsters tell him the barometric pressure and wind drift so he can be sure the hat will land right side up and a little to the left of center.

BUT ONE THING still is left to chance in political polls, and it seems certain to get more fascinating poll by poll and projection by projection. It's pollees who won't cooperate.

Everything in a scientific poll depends, naturally, on being scientific, so the noncooperators must be counted, along with everybody else. Then when the witches who stir the brew and bottle its contents settle down to their work, they must put in a pinch of uncommitted and a dash of undecided to give the thing a flavor of authenticity.

This offshoot of science becomes so allfired scentific that the witches even claim to know how many undecided and uncommitted voters are leaning one way or the other and how many are stuck on dead-center, without a passion or a prejudice to move them hither or yon.

But it's like the witness who refuses to testify on the grounds that if he opens his mouth he might incriminate himself. He who keeps his mouth shut when someone else wants him to open it for an opinion poll will win no popularity contests among pollsters, but neither will he add dignity to something he may think is ridiculous.

WE'LL CONTINUE to take exception to the claim that there are undecided voters in the United States. We think everybody made the decision soon after Labor Day and what the pollsters are finding is voters who aren't willing to talk.

In Britain last year, when the pollsters fell flat on their tabulating pads, it turned out that they had been polling too many Britons who weren't going to vote. This turned what was supposed to have been a Labor party victory into the Labor party rout and left the polling profession sick and wan.

We ask you, have you ever actually known an undecided voter—a voter, that, is, who would have to eeny-meeny-miney-mo to mark a presidential ballot? Yet the pollsters would have us believe there are millions.

Voice From The Classroom

The problems of education in America, voiced from political platforms, debated by learned authorities and weighed seriously by teachers and parents, rarely get public attention from those most concerned — the kids in the classrooms.

To give the other side, here is an editorial submitted as a composition by a sixth-grade Beaver Local boy and published in the current edition of the Columbiana County School News:

"Teachers are giving too much homework today. Especially the younger teachers, for they think that they have worked hard in college and that their pupils should, too.

"Some children even stay up late or get up early in the morning to do their homework. Then they come to school tired, miserable and cross. They don't feel like doing anything, and they do not do their best work. All they want to do is go to bed.

"So I suggest that if the teachers want brighter, fresher looking pupils, they ease up a little bit and not give so much homework."

There is herein cause for adult moralizing about the value of study, the benefits of ambition and the road to success.

But we won't moralize, because the sixth-grade editorialist will learn soon enough these values — largely through the efforts of his instructors who really don't want pupils who are "tired, miserable and cross."

But by the way, teacher, what about that homework?

'We're For You, Boy'

President Eisenhower gave one of the sincerest speeches of his life at Westchester Airport last week when he went to the New York area to appear with Vice President Nixon.

All politics aside, it was a gem. He said he thought he'd like to go campaigning again if he weren't so old.

"There are many compliments that come to men during the course of a career," he said. "But there is no greater compliment that Americans can pay to any individual than to come out from their busy lives, from their homes, and buck traffic jams, just to give him a friendly hello and say, 'We're for you, boy'!"

Everything Dwight Eisenhower is doing as president he now is doing for the last time. He is making his last political speeches, preparing his last budget, watching the leaves fall on the White House lawn for the last time. This has been much in the thoughts of his admirers, and when the passions of the fight to choose his successor have cooled it will sober the thoughts of most Americans.

They will resent the way he was slandered in the 1960 campaign. His countrymen owed him more than that when he finished his years in the White House. They will acknowledge their debt when he leaves office officially in January, but it is a tragedy of our political hurly-burly that partisans felt they had to kick him around in the campaign to show what big men they were.

Luckily, he was more impressed by his friends than by his assailants. Luckily, that's the kind of president he is. That's why so many Americans are still saying after nearly eight years, "We're for you, boy!"

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Railroads are in such destitute shape they need "CARE" packages to see a ray of hope. One of them, the New Haven railroad —so broke it could sell lead pencils—has been granted a $4 million federal loan and will get three-state tax cuts while it is still living. (Another week and it would have been too late for blood transfusions.)

It had become a railroad, like some others, on which the men who tap the wheels with a hammer seemed to be sending out SOS calls. It passed signals, passed dividends and passed the hat. The locomotive whistles came through in the rhythm of "Over The Hills to the Poorhouse." The caboose was a luxury car.

When a flagman went back he carried rockets bought on time payments. Traveling public abandoned its printed schedules and consulted tea-leaf readers and crystal balls to get correct train arrivals and departures.

It sometimes sold parlor car seats on cars not even included in the specified train. Commuters phoned home: "Don't wait up for me. I'm coming by train."

It had some extra bad management. Its presidents included lawyers and speculators. But it suffered heavily from unfair truck operations, which got all the breaks with few of the operational costs.

Auto age took away countless passenger-train riders. It got its troubles wholesale and was plainly a candidate for inclusions on "Neediest Cases" list.

It moved in an atmosphere of gloom, debt, inefficiency and low morale. It is an important eastern road, a victim of government indifference and a sort of poor relation in the world of travel.

Its severest critics will be glad to know it is getting a smile, a glad hand and a few million dollars. If it replaces the torn curtains, mends the ripped seats, deodorizes the coaches, cleans up the paper cups, beer cans, broken bottles and filthy litter from the tracks at its main terminals and gets trains through on time all may be forgiven.

ENGLAND SAYS U.S. Polaris sub will be stationed in Clyde River, Scotland. Scotch are protesting. They may believe firmly that the bagpipe is still enough to drive off any enemy.

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

A beloved, disabled veteran, whose "name became a symbol throughout the 77th Div. for outstanding gallantry," lives now in Rising Fawn, Ga., where he told me, "I'm feeling my best now, since leaving the service."

Desmond T. Doss was a Bible-carrying medic. He wouldn't carry weapons, because he was a conscientious objector. Yet, he won our nation's highest military award, The Medal of Honor:

April 29, '45, Okinawa — "Private Doss refused to seek cover and remained in the fire-swept area with the many stricken (75), carrying them one by one . . ."

May 4 — "Advancing through a shower of grenades to within eight yards of enemy . . . where he dressed his comrades' wounds . . ."

May 21 — "He was seriously wounded . . . rather than call another aid man from cover, he cared for his own injuries . . . litter bearers reached him . . . seeing a more critically wounded man . . . crawled off litter . . . again struck . . . with magnificent fortitude, he bound a rifle stock to his shattered arm as a splint and crawled 300 yards . . ."

"I felt my buddies were my brothers," said Desmond, a devout Seventh Day Adventist. "My great source of strength was the daily study of the Bible and prayer . . . When I talked with God, I seemed to lose my sense of fear . . . To God be all the honor."

Unions Outdo Themselves In Race

By Victor Riesel

MILWAUKEE

What Winston Churchill needs least in his old age is my paraphrasing his lines. But after trudging wearily through the cities and countryside in the wake of the campaigners there is only one description of what the union chiefs did: Never in the field of political conflict was so much owed to so many by Jack Kennedy. For two months they dissolved the labor movement for him. They turned it into a vast political machine. They didn't want to be the target in the campaign. So they personally were the quiet men.

Victor Riesel

In state after state they really were the Democratic party, as many a district leader, soon to be replaced by a bright young labor man, will realize.

Not even when I was a New York City cost accounting student genius could I, or anyone, have reckoned the funds it would take to put such a political army in the fields and precincts.

THERE IS, for example, Walter Reuther, the fellow whose spastic neck muscles almost paralyzed his upper back for a while. His schedule, nonetheless, was literally as heavy as Jack Kennedy's.

Working under Reuther and other auto union leaders, were at least 300 of the UAW's 600 - man organizing staff. Across the land they campaigned not only plant by plant but department by department, floor by floor.

They distributed millions of copies of their literature which came bulked up in 10,000 piece lots. Also active, especially in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, were Dave McDonald's steelworkers.

No less active was AFL - CIO president George Meany. He worked himself into cold after cold and was on the phone day and night contacting unions, raising funds, consulting with Democratic leaders.

At his order the national organizing division assigned most of its competent field organizers to regional supervisory political activity. This meant at least 50 men.

I COULD LIST over 200 nationally powerful union leaders who did nothing but politick. Some are internationally prominent. Some are newcomers. There is, just to pick one, a friend of Democratic national chairman, Sen. Henry Jackson.

His name is Ed Altman and I select him for he is virtually unknown even in most labor circles. Altman, however, is national president of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, an AFL-CIO maritime affiliate.

This union chief traveled with and in advance of Sen. Kennedy. The labor official, working with electrical workers leader, Joe Keenan, made no policy. He would get into a town, contact the local union people and get them to organize a meeting, a demonstration, a street crowd, a reception.

Whoever was available was urged to get down to the local hotel or headquarters "and meet Jack." Then Ed Altman would get set for the next town.

Point is that Altman was just elected and was hardly familiar with his own office. But he was dedicated first to getting Sen. Kennedy into that other office.

NO MATTER how you run up or down on the union chain of command, the story is the same. There are in Wisconsin some 1200 state, local and minor officials. They lead some 350,000 members. Most of them were out campaigning every night.

This is a story which can only be told at random. The record shows, for example, that in Casper, Wyo., the political action group made 12,750 phone calls during the registration period.

Is that random enough? What makes this campaign different is labor's concentration in such states as Vermont and Idaho, South Dakota and Montana. The activists add up by the tens of thousands; the phone calls by the hundreds of thousands.

Labor's own press outdid any official Democratic offering. For months now I've measured space in it given over to praise of John Kennedy and criticism of Richard Nixon.

At least 25 to 50 per cent of millions of copies of thousands of editions of labor papers carried this material.

Never before has so much been done by so many — not for FDR, HST or Adlai, with whom they lost twice. They did not relish losing a third time. This, they felt, was the only thing they could not afford.

Earth Becomes Citified

By Thomas R. Henry

The big city is swallowing mankind. This development all over the world is stressed in a report just issued by the population reference bureau here.

For eventual good or ill, it is beset by vast problems of adjustment, says Dr. Robert C. Cook, director of the bureau, and is essentially a phenomenon of the present century.

Now, he points out, there are 61 cities in the world with populations of more than a million. In 1900 there were only ten. At present, says the report, "Two persons of every ten live in cities of 20,000 or more population. If the present trend continues—and there is every indication that it will for some time—almost half the world's population will live in cities of that size by 2000 A.D., and by 2050 nine out of every ten.

Dr. Cook stresses especially the progressive urbanization of the United States.

"The first census," says his report, "was taken in 1790 soon after the Republic was born and reported a population of 3,929,214. Only 5 per cent lived in the 24 urban places of 2,500 or more.

"Urban growth in the United States was stimulated both by the rapid rate of population growth and the accelerating pace of technology.

"The abundance of fertile land could sustain an ever-growing urban population. People married early, had children early, and had many of them.

"In every decade since the first census, with the exception of that of 1870, urban population grew faster than rural.

This picture, Dr. Cook stresses, is quite similar to that of the world as a whole—even its less developed areas.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Columbiana County surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk reported that 50.66 miles of highway were built in the county during 1930.

Dr. G. W. McMillan was elected president of the Wellsville Associated Charities.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Atty. Louis Tobin of East Liverpool resigned as assistant county prosecutor and Atty. Sam Chertoff was appointed to succeed him.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Mae Cosgrove was initiated during a meeting of Max C. Roth Chapter, Daughters of America at the Odd Fellows Hall in East End.

Charles Stevens of East Liverpool was elected president of the Columbiana County Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission, succeeding George Kirtley of East Palestine.

Letters To The Editor

Nixon Explains His Tariff Views

I have been unhappy with the total lack of results our pottery industry has had during the present administration, in obtaining any measure of protection with regard to imports from low wage countries, but of course no less unhappy than during the preceding Truman and Roosevelt administrations. I do know that a vote for Kennedy or a Democratic administration would be absolutely no solution in this respect.

I wrote to Vice President Nixon on Oct. 11 as follows:

"In your televised debates, various speeches referred to in the press, etc., we have failed to note a single instance where any mention is made of protective tariffs, or a program of protection or relief for the rapidly increasing hordes of small, medium and now large American industries that have been seriously affected by imports from low wage countries. Millions of our citizens are becoming more and more conscious of the terrific impact of wage and job displacement by imports.

"We wrote you on April 22 (and received a nice reply) specifically outlining the tragic situation in our own domestic pottery and glass industry. Nine remaining members of the United States Potters Association of which we are a member (14 members have been forced out of business during the past five years) are currently negotiating in New York City at the Edison Hotel for renewal of our current wage contract which expires Dec. 1. Once again we are faced with demands (or a strike) for a substantial wage increase, a pension plan, increased vacations with pay and increased insurance benefits, along with a few little items such as full pay for a three-day period upon the death of any member of the immediate family of one of our employes and also full pay for jury duty of any employe.

"Enclosed is a clipping taken from the front page of The Youngstown Vindicator Sunday morning, Oct. 9, and headed 'Steel Jobs Here Are Hit By Imports — Area Impact is Similar To Foreign Blows at Pottery Firms.'

"People in areas involving steel workers, pottery workers, glass workers, textile workers, leather and shoe workers, etc., are interested in what they can look forward to as regards 'job security'."

IN A LETTER dated Oct. 22, Mr. Nixon replied as follows:

"As you know, it is my conviction that the United States must do all it can to increase trade with other free world nations. We cannot afford to be isolated in the economic world any more than we can afford to be isolated in the military world of the intercontinental ballistic missile.

"At the same time, however, I do not believe that our national trade policy means marking certain American industries as expendable.

"For this reason, I strongly support the Republican party platform which calls for effective administration of the escape clause and peril point provisions of our trade legislation to safeguard American jobs and domestic industries against serious injury. Furthermore, I favor vigorous and imaginative efforts through diplomatic channels to make greater and more effective use of voluntary limitation of shipments by other countries whose penetration of American markets threatens the orderly development of those markets by domestic producers."

THE MARGINAL operations of our local pottery industry as regards "number of employe working days" and "company profits" is sincerely critical. The industry has been unionized for more than 50 years (one of the oldest affiliates of AFL) and during wage negotiations over this long period of years, it is natural that the manufacturers have brought forth arguments to resist and limit wage increases in connection with new wage contracts.

Many pottery workers today seem to think that the manufacturers are once again crying "wolf". My own company has not paid a dividend to stockholders during the past five years. And, what is more important, increased manufacturing costs (wages, increased social security, gas, fuel, raw materials) on the one side and terrific competition forcing prices lower and lower to obtain sufficient volume to operate, on the other side, are squeezing possible profits and dissipating company capital reserves to the point that financial failure or liquidation will shortly be inevitable, just as for a number of other potteries that have disappeared during the past five years.

Thus, I feel that I have no choice but to go along with Nixon.

But I also feel that this is not a solution to these problems of our pottery industry.

Kennedy's 'Promises' Questioned

Sen. John Kennedy has made numerous normal election promises, but unfortunately, is belaboring one point.

This one particular point is one which seems so dear in hearts of people. He states that if he becomes president he will spend an additional five billion dollars next fiscal year and in return this is to make a utopia of employment and "full pay checks." The Kennedy regime is to be the emancipator of all economic ills.

There is no such thing — not even under socialism. He should have learned that when he studied socialism in England. (It must be where his ideas originated).

Let us examine this spending which is to bring about "full pay checks." Common sense tells us the only way a person or democratic government can spend more money is to perform one of the following:

1.—Earn more money (taxation).
2.—Make (print) more money.
3.—Borrow—deficit spending.

HOW DOES the government earn more money? What is the chief income of our government? Democrats and Republicans alike oppose higher income taxes. Sen. Kennedy cannot raise five billion dollars merely by plugging the loopholes in the tax laws. So where does he get the remaining three or four billion dollars? Raise personal income tax? Perhaps he has in mind to do it through hidden taxes on gasoline, bread, cars, etc. This would make a shamble of that "full pay check." Wouldn't it?

Point 2. The federal government is limited by law as to the amount of currency it may issue. I don't think Sen. Kennedy can change this law even though he does not like being limited by the powers of the Constitution. If the federal government ever begins to print paper money solely to meet its spending desires we all know the outcome would be disastrous.

Point 3. Deficit spending in common everyday language is spending more than you make. Individuals do this, but for how long? The government started doing this during the Roosevelt administration. This policy continued, with the exception of one year, to the Eisenhower administration. Look at the result.

We have a national debt which far exceeds the total gross national product of many countries. Foreign countries today could demand payment in gold of the money owed then by the United States. If they did this our gold supply would be exhausted. We have approximately 19 billion dollars worth of gold on supply in U. S. and foreign claims, if made, would total 19.3 billion.

YOU MIGHT well ask why these foreign countries would demand payment in gold. There is a prominent feeling among countries that trade with us that if a Democratic administration is elected they will increase this deficit spending.

They know that this will further devaluate the greenback and because of this devaluation they no longer will accept greenbacks or the promise of them is payment. They have every right to demand payment in gold.

Now is the time to be really realistic. In the November election think of America, not in terms of your own personal needs, but rather in the well-being of our country. Our personal needs are few, our moral and spiritual needs many.

President Eisenhower has indeed done much to restore dignity to the office of the president of the United States. He has balanced our budget the last four years and regardless of the obnoxious charges of a zealot, he does command now and always will the respect of our citizens and those in foreign countries.

Richard Nixon has been a student of President Eisenhower for eight years. This kind of instruction is alone a great asset. Nixon will serve America without rash promises and lead us, not to a materialistic downfall and decay but rather to an economically stable government which puts its trust in good moral and spiritual beliefs.

Tax Faces Voters For Third Time

For the third time in three years, the question of a municipal income tax will be placed before the voters of East Liverpool.

Several reasons have been advanced for the levy's defeat on the two previous occasions. The one kicked about the most was that the wrong approach had been taken in presenting the issue, many claiming it had been "crammed down" the people's throats.

Regardless of the past, such a charge can't be justified this time. The moving force behind the present tax proposition was a citizens' committee. Pressure has been lacking from any other direction. The matter was initiated by the people and rests with the people. It's for them and them alone to decide Tuesday.

The Review endorsed the tax both times previously — with the firm belief that additional money was needed to get the ball rolling on necessary municipal programs and with the conviction that such a tax was the fairest way to raise it.

Our views remain unchanged. The money is still needed and the suggested tax still seems the fairest and most logical way to meet the need.

While Council has refrained from taking a stand on the issue, it has — upon request earlier this year — outlined a tentative program for which it thinks any such revenue could be used to the best advantage of the city.

Street surfacing and repairs, sewer projects, an expanded recreation program for all, improved street lighting, more off-street parking lots and preparation of a master plan to guide the city's growth were among the points emphasized. All make sense and all fit in with a progressive community.

We hope the voters see fit to give the levy overwhelming approval Tuesday. If they don't, they can expect little in the way of improved streets and the other projects that would go toward making East Liverpool a better place in which to live.

We'll Continue To Take Exception

Remembering 1948, we still believe it's best to wait for the election returns before paying off bets.

Or, to paraphrase what baseball managers say when it looks as if their teams didn't have a chance, the Republicans "will show up at the ball park" next Tuesday.

It's an interesting thing that has taken place in this country since the Literary Digest began to foretell the outcome of presidential election with its once-famous poll based on telephone listings. Year by year, through disappointment and triumph, pollsters have been hacking away at their technique of crystal-balling election returns.

Admittedly, they have made progress. The candidates, themselves, rely on them as heavily as they rely on throat lozenges. Theoretically, nothing is left to chance. A politician always bets on a sure thing these days. He doesn't even throw his hat in the ring until pollsters tell him the barometric pressure and wind drift so he can be sure the hat will land right side up and a little to the left of center.

BUT ONE THING still is left to chance in political polls, and it seems certain to get more fascinating poll by poll and projection by projection. It's pollees who won't cooperate.

Everything in a scientific poll depends, naturally, on being scientific, so the noncooperators must be counted, along with everybody else. Then when the witches who stir the brew and bottle its contents settle down to their work, they must put in a pinch of uncommitted and a dash of undecided to give the thing a flavor of authenticity.

This offshoot of science becomes so all-fired scentific that the witches even claim to know how many undecided and uncommitted voters are leaning one way or the other and how many are stuck on dead-center, without a passion or a prejudice to move them hither or yon.

But it's like the witness who refuses to testify on the grounds that if he opens his mouth he might incriminate himself. He who keeps his mouth shut when someone else wants him to open it for an opinion poll will win no popularity contests among pollsters, but neither will he add dignity to something he may think is ridiculous.

WE'LL CONTINUE to take exception to the claim that there are undecided voters in the United States. We think everybody made the decision soon after Labor Day and what the pollsters are finding is voters who aren't willing to talk.

In Britain last year, when the pollsters fell flat on their tabulating pads, it turned out that they had been polling too many Britons who weren't going to vote. This turned what was supposed to have been a Labor party victory into the Labor party rout and left the polling profession sick and wan.

We ask you, have you ever actually known an undecided voter—a voter, that, is, who would have to eeny-meeny-miney-mo to mark a presidential ballot? Yet the pollsters would have us believe there are millions.

Voice From The Classroom

The problems of education in America, voiced from political platforms, debated by learned authorities and weighed seriously by teachers and parents, rarely get public attention from those most concerned — the kids in the classrooms.

To give the other side, here is an editorial submitted as a composition by a sixth-grade Beaver Local boy and published in the current edition of the Columbiana County School News:

"Teachers are giving too much homework today. Especially the younger teachers, for they think that they have worked hard in college and that their pupils should, too.

"Some children even stay up late or get up early in the morning to do their homework. Then they come to school tired, miserable and cross. They don't feel like doing anything, and they do not do their best work. All they want to do is go to bed.

"So I suggest that if the teachers want brighter, fresher looking pupils, they ease up a little bit and not give so much homework."

There is herein cause for adult moralizing about the value of study, the benefits of ambition and the road to success.

But we won't moralize, because the sixth-grade editorialist will learn soon enough these values — largely through the efforts of his instructors who really don't want pupils who are "tired, miserable and cross."

But by the way, teacher, what about that homework?

'We're For You, Boy'

President Eisenhower gave one of the sincerest speeches of his life at Westchester Airport last week when he went to the New York area to appear with Vice President Nixon.

All politics aside, it was a gem. He said he thought he'd like to go campaigning again if he weren't so old.

"There are many compliments that come to men during the course of a career," he said. "But there is no greater compliment that Americans can pay to any individual than to come out from their busy lives, from their homes, and buck traffic jams, just to give him a friendly hello and say, 'We're for you, boy'!"

Everything Dwight Eisenhower is doing as president he now is doing for the last time. He is making his last political speeches, preparing his last budget, watching the leaves fall on the White House lawn for the last time. This has been much in the thoughts of his admirers, and when the passions of the fight to choose his successor have cooled it will sober the thoughts of most Americans.

They will resent the way he was slandered in the 1960 campaign. His countrymen owed him more than that when he finished his years in the White House. They will acknowledge their debt when he leaves office officially in January, but it is a tragedy of our political hurly-burly that partisans felt they had to kick him around in the campaign to show what big men they were.

Luckily, he was more impressed by his friends than by his assailants. Luckily, that's the kind of president he is. That's why so many Americans are still saying after nearly eight years, "We're for you, boy!"

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Railroads are in such destitute shape they need "CARE" packages to see a ray of hope. One of them, the New Haven railroad —so broke it could sell lead pencils—has been granted a $4 million federal loan and will get three-state tax cuts while it is still living. (Another week and it would have been too late for blood transfusions.)

It had become a railroad, like some others, on which the men who tap the wheels with a hammer seemed to be sending out SOS calls. It passed signals, passed dividends and passed the hat. The locomotive whistles came through in the rhythm of "Over The Hills to the Poorhouse." The caboose was a luxury car.

When a flagman went back he carried rockets bought on time payments. Traveling public abandoned its printed schedules and consulted tea-leaf readers and crystal balls to get correct train arrivals and departures.

It sometimes sold parlor car seats on cars not even included in the specified train. Commuters phoned home: "Don't wait up for me. I'm coming by train."

It had some extra bad management. Its presidents included lawyers and speculators. But it suffered heavily from unfair truck operations, which got all the breaks with few of the operational costs.

Auto age took away countless passenger-train riders. It got its troubles wholesale and was plainly a candidate for inclusions on "Neediest Cases" list.

It moved in an atmosphere of gloom, debt, inefficiency and low morale. It is an important eastern road, a victim of government indifference and a sort of poor relation in the world of travel.

Its severest critics will be glad to know it is getting a smile, a glad hand and a few million dollars. If it replaces the torn curtains, mends the ripped seats, deodorizes the coaches, cleans up the paper cups, beer cans, broken bottles and filthy litter from the tracks at its main terminals and gets trains through on time all may be forgiven.

ENGLAND SAYS U.S. Polaris sub will be stationed in Clyde River, Scotland. Scotch are protesting. They may believe firmly that the bagpipe is still enough to drive off any enemy.

Unions Outdo Themselves In Race

By Victor Riesel

MILWAUKEE — What Winston Churchill needs least in his old age is my paraphrasing his lines. But after trudging wearily through the cities and countryside in the wake of the campaigners there is only one description of what the union chiefs did: Never in the field of political conflict was so much owed to so many by Jack Kennedy. For two months they dissolved the labor movement for him. They turned it into a vast political machine. They didn't want to be the target in the campaign. So they personally were the quiet men.

Victor Riesel

In state after state they really were the Democratic party, as many a district leader, soon to be replaced by a bright young labor man, will realize.

Not even when I was a New York City cost accounting student genius could I, or anyone, have reckoned the funds it would take to put such a political army in the fields and precincts.

THERE IS, for example, Walter Reuther, the fellow whose spastic neck muscles almost paralyzed his upper back for a while. His schedule, nonetheless, was literally as heavy as Jack Kennedy's.

Working under Reuther and other auto union leaders, were at least 300 of the UAW's 600 - man organizing staff. Across the land they campaigned not only plant by plant but department by department, floor by floor.

They distributed millions of copies of their literature which came bulked up in 10,000 piece lots. Also active, especially in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, were Dave McDonald's steelworkers.

No less active was AFL - CIO president George Meany. He worked himself into cold after cold and was on the phone day and night contacting unions, raising funds, consulting with Democratic leaders.

At his order the national organizing division assigned most of its competent field organizers to regional supervisory political activity. This meant at least 50 men.

I COULD LIST over 200 nationally powerful union leaders who did nothing but politick. Some are internationally prominent. Some are newcomers. There is, just to pick one, a friend of Democratic national chairman, Sen. Henry Jackson.

His name is Ed Altman and I select him for he is virtually unknown even in most labor circles. Altman, however, is national president of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, an AFL-CIO maritime affiliate.

This union chief traveled with and in advance of Sen. Kennedy. The labor official, working with electrical workers leader, Joe Keenan, made no policy. He would get into a town, contact the local union people and get them to organize a meeting, a demonstration, a street crowd, a reception.

Whoever was available was urged to get down to the local hotel or headquarters "and meet Jack." Then Ed Altman would get set for the next town.

Point is that Altman was just elected and was hardly familiar with his own office. But he was dedicated first to getting Sen. Kennedy into that other office.

NO MATTER how you run up or down on the union chain of command, the story is the same. There are in Wisconsin some 1200 state, local and minor officials. They lead some 350,000 members. Most of them were out campaigning every night.

This is a story which can only be told at random. The record shows, for example, that in Casper, Wyo., the political action group made 12,750 phone calls during the registration period.

Is that random enough? What makes this campaign different is labor's concentration in such states as Vermont and Idaho, South Dakota and Montana. The activists add up by the tens of thousands; the phone calls by the hundreds of thousands.

Labor's own press outdid any official Democratic offering. For months now I've measured space in it given over to praise of John Kennedy and criticism of Richard Nixon.

At least 25 to 50 per cent of millions of copies of thousands of editions of labor papers carried this material.

Never before has so much been done by so many — not for FDR, HST or Adlai, with whom they lost twice. They did not relish losing a third time. This, they felt, was the only thing they could not afford.

Earth Becomes Citified

By Thomas R. Henry

The big city is swallowing mankind. This development all over the world is stressed in a report just issued by the population reference bureau here.

For eventual good or ill, it is beset by vast problems of adjustment, says Dr. Robert C. Cook, director of the bureau, and is essentially a phenomenon of the present century.

Now, he points out, there are 61 cities in the world with populations of more than a million. In 1900 there were only ten. At present, says the report, "Two persons of every ten live in cities of 20,000 or more population. If the present trend continues—and there is every indication that it will for some time—almost half the world's population will live in cities of that size by 2000 A.D., and by 2050 nine out of every ten.

Dr. Cook stresses especially the progressive urbanization of the United States.

"The first census," says his report, "was taken in 1790 soon after the Republic was born and reported a population of 3,929,214. Only 5 per cent lived in the 24 urban places of 2,500 or more.

"Urban growth in the United States was stimulated both by the rapid rate of population growth and the accelerating pace of technology.

"The abundance of fertile land could sustain an ever-growing urban population. People married early, had children early, and had many of them.

"In every decade since the first census, with the exception of that of 1870, urban population grew faster than rural.

This picture, Dr. Cook stresses, is quite similar to that of the world as a whole—even its less developed areas.

Nixon Explains His Tariff Views

I have been unhappy with the total lack of results our pottery industry has had during the present administration, in obtaining any measure of protection with regard to imports from low wage countries, but of course no less unhappy than during the preceding Truman and Roosevelt administrations. I do know that a vote for Kennedy or a Democratic administration would be absolutely no solution in this respect.

I wrote to Vice President Nixon on Oct. 11 as follows:

"In your televised debates, various speeches referred to in the press, etc., we have failed to note a single instance where any mention is made of protective tariffs, or a program of protection or relief for the rapidly increasing hordes of small, medium and now large American industries that have been seriously affected by imports from low wage countries. Millions of our citizens are becoming more and more conscious of the terrific impact of wage and job displacement by imports.

"We wrote you on April 22 (and received a nice reply) specifically outlining the tragic situation in our own domestic pottery and glass industry. Nine remaining members of the United States Potters Association of which we are a member (14 members have been forced out of business during the past five years) are currently negotiating in New York City at the Edison Hotel for renewal of our current wage contract which expires Dec. 1. Once again we are faced with demands (or a strike) for a substantial wage increase, a pension plan, increased vacations with pay and increased insurance benefits, along with a few little items such as full pay for a three-day period upon the death of any member of the immediate family of one of our employes and also full pay for jury duty of any employe.

"Enclosed is a clipping taken from the front page of The Youngstown Vindicator Sunday morning, Oct. 9, and headed 'Steel Jobs Here Are Hit By Imports — Area Impact is Similar To Foreign Blows at Pottery Firms.'

"People in areas involving steel workers, pottery workers, glass workers, textile workers, leather and shoe workers, etc., are interested in what they can look forward to as regards 'job security'."

IN A LETTER dated Oct. 22, Mr. Nixon replied as follows:

"As you know, it is my conviction that the United States must do all it can to increase trade with other free world nations. We cannot afford to be isolated in the economic world any more than we can afford to be isolated in the military world of the intercontinental ballistic missile.

"At the same time, however, I do not believe that our national trade policy means marking certain American industries as expendable.

Thus, I feel that I have no choice but to go along with Nixon.

The hold-over member of the three-man board is Frank Wilson of Wellsville, Democrat. He is a market operator.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan, an East Palestine Republican, is bidding for his second term. He is opposed by Albert E. Kittridge of Chester Ave., formerly an East Liverpool policeman for 14 years, now a safety engineer for a transportation insurance company. Van Fossan was chief deputy to Sheriff Howard J. Clark before assuming the office himself. Kittridge also was the Democratic nominee four years ago.

Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw of Smithfield St., a Republican, is seeking his second term. The Democratic candidate is Atty. Herbert E. Arfman of Leetonia, who practices law at Salem.

Four more Democratic incumbents are seeking new terms: Probate Judge Louis Tobin of St. Clair Ave., who is unopposed; Court Clerk Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana; Treasurer Vincent C. Judge of Lisbon and Dr. William A. Kolozi of Salem, coroner, also unopposed.

Charles H. Brant, former East Palestine councilman, is the Republican nominee for court clerk. Mrs. H. Joan Dixon of the East Liverpool Rd., near Lisbon, is the GOP's candidate for treasurer. She is a former employe of the treasurer's and auditor's offices in the Courthouse.

Stacey is seeking his first full term. He was elected to an unexpired term in November 1958. Dr. Kolozi also is serving in an unexpired term and seeking his first full term. He was appointed in 1959 to succeed the late Ernest R. Sturgis of East Liverpool.

Judge is seeking his fifth term in the treasurer's office. Judge Tobin is bidding for his second full term. He was appointed to the bench June 15, 1951, to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Milton C. Cope.

There will be a new face in the county recorder's office next term, regardless of the outcome of the election, as Mrs. Frances W. Morton of Wellsville, the GOP incumbent, will give up the post at the end of 1960. A Courthouse employe approximately 30 years, she did not file for re-election.

The Republican candidate for her post is Richard G. Brian, 324 Vine St., operator of a men's clothing store and a former county commissioner. The Democratic nominee is John E. Graham, 404 Aten Ave., Wellsville, a deputy in County Auditor Kenneth Bell's office.

For the first time in 24 years, Democrats have a candidate for county engineer. He is John Ursu of Salem, surveyor and civil engineer, who will run against the veteran GOP incumbent, Charles O. Snyder, also of Salem.

5 Ballots Will Include Income Tax And Levy

The question of a city income tax and renewal of a 2-mill garbage levy are included on 2 of the 5 ballots East Liverpool voters will receive at the polls Tuesday.

It's the third vote in three years on the income tax measure. If approved, it would take effect next Jan. 1, fixing a tax of 80 cents on each $100 of income and earnings, including profits of business and industry.

The Citizens Committee which placed the measure on the ballot as an initiative ordinance estimates it will produce about $300,000 a year. The tax would remain in effect three years.

Similar measures enacted in 1958 and 1959 by Council were defeated overwhelmingly at the polls.

Ike Accorded Warm Welcome In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — President Eisenhower was given a warm welcome by a huge crowd that gathered in Public Square here Friday. The crowd heard him urge the election of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, next Tuesday.

Crowds along East 9th Street and Euclid Avenue to see the President go by motorcade from Burke Lakefront Airport to the Square also showed that he has lost none of his popularity.

Even some Democrats among the estimated 50,000 persons who saw him showed a kindly disposition toward the man who has occupied the White House for nearly eight years.

A woman wearing a large Kennedy button said: "If Ike were running again, he'd get my vote."

Police Chief Frank W. Story estimated 15,000 persons were gathered along the motorcade route and another 35,000 to 38,000 were at the Square to hear the President speak.

The distinction between an introvert and an extrovert lies in the fact that the former is preoccupied with his own mental processes and attitudes, and with the way he is regarded by others — while an "extrovert" is one who is interested in things and people outside of himself.

$15,295 Asked On River Wall

The Hatcher Brothers Co. of Mingo Junction submitted the lowest of three bids received by Chester officials Friday for construction of a retaining wall at the upper pump station at Chester.

Hatcher bid $15,295 for the wall designed to protect the water pumping station when the pool level of the Ohio River rises after completion of the Stratton Superdam.

The Pennsylvania Drilling Co. of Pittsburgh, whose $23,800 bid last month was turned down as too high by the U. S. Corps of Engineers, submitted a new bid of $18,464 — some $5,000 lower.

The Phil & Miller Co. of Pittsburgh submitted a bid of $18,709.

J. L. Smith of the McGill-Smith Co. of Bethel, consulting engineers for the project, said the bids will be presented to the U. S. Corps of Engineers for approval. He said work may begin in two weeks if the bid is approved.

Approximately 99 per cent of today's snuff isn't the sniffing kind. Virtually all snuff now is taken orally, chewed, or "dipped" — that is, it's pinched between thumb and forefinger and placed between gum and lower lip.

KENNEDY MISSING!

Where was he in the Senate? Where was he in the Committees when he could have acted?

FOR EXAMPLE:

ECONOMIC GROWTH

Kennedy said: "If we're going to grow the way we should grow we must adopt fiscal policies that will stimulate growth and not discourage it." — September 5, 1960 speech in Detroit, Michigan.

BUT, as a member of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, Senator Kennedy attended only one of FORTY-FOUR meetings dealing with U.S. and Soviet economic growth and price levels. (Nor did he attend any of the six meetings which studied the Economic Report of the President.)

PROBLEMS OF THE AGED

Kennedy said: "Only with a Democratic President in the White House can we hope to bring help to poverty-stricken older Americans." — Sept. 28, 1960 speech in Buffalo, N.Y.

BUT, as a member of the Senate Subcommittee on Problems of the Aged and Aging, he has not attended a single session of the 20 meetings and hearings which have been held by the committee.

DEFENSE

Kennedy said: "We must work to build the stronger America on which our ultimate ability to defend ourselves and the free world depends." — June 14, 1960 Senate speech.

BUT, on June 16, 1960, instead of being on hand in the Senate to enact the $40 billion Defense Appropriation, he preferred to attend his college class reunion and make a later appearance on a TV variety show.

AUTOMATION

Kennedy said: "We must put to work the wonders of automation in a way which will be a blessing for all America — not merely a curse for the workers." — September 5, 1960 speech in Detroit, Michigan.

BUT, as a member of the Joint Subcommittee on Automation and Energy Resources, Senator Kennedy has not attend a single one of the FIVE meetings of this committee.

AFRICAN AFFAIRS

Kennedy said: "As chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on African Affairs, I have been disturbed by recent evidence of Russian infiltration and subversion in the Congo." — Statement given to reporters during flight from Flint to Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 6, 1960.

BUT, as Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on African Affairs he hasn't called a single meeting of his subcommittee in the past fifteen months.

ATOMIC ENERGY USES

Kennedy said: "Our research in the peaceful uses of atomic energy has fallen far short of expectations. There has been too much bureaucratic red tape and too little budget." — September 6, 1960 speech in Pocatello, Idaho.

BUT, on May 10, 1960, when the Senate debated and passed the Atomic Energy Appropriation, the New York Times reported that Senator Kennedy spent the morning in West Virginia, the afternoon at a luncheon for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. The previous year, too, when these funds were provided by the Senate August 3, 1959, Senator Kennedy was ABSENT.

DISARMAMENT

Kennedy said: "No issue, in short, is of more vital concern to this nation than disarmament — no issue could demand more priority of top-level attention than disarmament." (Kennedy is a member of the Senate Disarmament Subcommittee.)

BUT, Gerald Heaney, Democratic National Committeeman from Minnesota, announced that John Kennedy "has not attended a single meeting of the committee since 1958" — Milwaukee Journal, April 4, 1960.

THIS, THEN, IS KENNEDY-TYPE LEADERSHIP?

As a Senator he missed 331 roll calls (not including 36 votes taken when he was ill)

As a Congressman he missed 179 roll calls

Kennedy and Johnson, by their voting record, disagreed 264 times

...and as a Committee member Kennedy's record is as follows:

1. Senate Committee on Foreign Relations
a) Sub-Committee on Disarmament (Member) — no attendance since August 1958.
b) Sub-Committee on African affairs (Chairman) — no attendance since July 1959, since which time the Congo crisis developed.

2. Labor, Public Welfare Committee (Member)
a) Sub-Committee on Problems of Aged — missed all 20 meetings this session.
b) Sub-Committee on Veterans — Did not attend.

3. Joint Committee on Economic Progress (Member)
a) Sub-Committee on Economic Growth — attended 1 of 44 meetings — none since March 20, 1959.
b) Sub-Committee on Automation — attended none of 5 meetings.
c) Sub-Committee on President's Economic Report — attended none of 6 meetings.

Mrs. Frank Mitcheson, council president, commented on the meaning of the observance. Mrs. Wolfe of the host church was leader.

Mrs. Agnes Kittridge of the First Baptist Church read the Scriptures, "Blessed Sermon on the Mount", from Matt. 5:3-16.

The 45 church representatives attending presented offerings and gifts to be sent to the Church World Service, with headquarters in New Windsor, Md.

The offering netted about $40 with yard goods and children's clothing also collected.

Peter Mullen, organist of the host church, presented the processional, "Distant Chimes" (Byles); offertory, "Contemplation" (Clarke), and recessional, "Festival Recessional" (Nordman). Miss Betsy Eunson of the First Church of Christ sang a solo, "Come Ye Blessed" (Scott).

The 1961 World Community Day observance will be held Feb. 17 and the name of the church will be announced later.

Action Waited To Close Alley

Council is scheduled to act Monday night on a controversial proposal to close about 275 feet of a Pleasant Heights alley which owners of adjoining property have used for years as a neighborhood picnic spot and playground.

An ordinance will be presented to vacate Carroll Ln. from Sanford Ave. south to a point on the south line of Lot 6333, an overall distance of about 275 feet. Carroll Ln. lies between Dakota Ave. and Montana Ave. and runs parallel with the two thoroughfares.

A group of abutting property-owners requested the vacation months ago. But an opposition group from the same neighborhood argued the alley should not be closed. They said it is used on occasion by private cars and also is necessary for use by fire trucks and coal trucks making deliveries to homes.

The formal petition for vacating the ground was filed Sept. 6. Council now is free to act, after publishing for six consecutive weeks a legal notice on its "intent" to vacate the alley.

In the ordinance, the city reserves the right to "maintain, repair, replace and service" any utility lines in the stretch to be vacated.

Council also will consider a resolution authorizing the administration to advertise for bids and sign a contract for a new two-way radio system for the police department.

The present system is owned by the Ohio Bell Telphone Co., which services it under contract. But Ohio Bell is required to quit the radio system business by January, complying with a Federal Court order, which necessitates the city's action to find a new concern to furnish and maintain the police system.

Importance Of Voting Cited In Address Before Lions Club

The importance of casting a ballot in Tuesday's general election was stressed by Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, when he addressed the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

O'Hanlon pointed out several states were admitted to the Union by one vote, ex-President Truman received all of the state's electoral votes in 1948 by a margin of less than one vote per precinct, and Rutherford B. Hayes was named president by one electoral vote in 1876.

O'Hanlon said the election board will spend approximately $100,000 in conducting elections in Columbiana County this year, explaining that it will employ some 1,400 people on Tuesday, including extra precinct workers to aid in the tabulation of ballots.

In conducting or supervising more than 100 elections of all kinds, the veteran clerk said he never has seen so much interest in a presidential contest, explaining the issuance of 1,633 absentee ballots has broken all peacetime records.

He was introduced by John Smith, program chairman.

Dr. John Snively of Minerva, zone chairman, also spoke briefly on membership, explaining he was disappointed the local club did not take in any new members last month.

East Liverpool's goal has been set at six new members for the year, but merely reaching the goal is not sufficient, he said. The most challenging job is retention of members, he said.

Dr. Snively was introduced by George McCullough of East Liverpool, district deputy governor.

Howard Tice, president, reminded members the Board of Director will meet Monday night at Tice's Restaurant and the club will be host to the zone meeting on Nov. 15, also at Tice's.

Speaker For Community Day Discusses 'Freedom Action'

The Rev. Charles Kampmeyer, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, was speaker at the World Community Day observance Friday afternoon at the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church.

The service was sponsored by the East Liverpool Council of United Church Women with Mrs. Samuel Wolfe chairman.

"Christian Action for Freedom" was the subject and in closing Rev. Kampmeyer said that "Christian action for freedom will mean something, mean much, mean more, only as we rededicate ourselves to bring the influence of the love of Christ upon every human heart and bringing the light of his Gospel into every human life."

Mrs. Frank Mitcheson, council president, commented on the meaning of the observance. Mrs. Wolfe of the host church was leader.

Mrs. Agnes Kittridge of the First Baptist Church read the Scriptures, "Blessed Sermon on the Mount", from Matt. 5:3-16.

The 45 church representatives attending presented offerings and gifts to be sent to the Church World Service, with headquarters in New Windsor, Md.

The offering netted about $40 with yard goods and children's clothing also collected.

Peter Mullen, organist of the host church, presented the processional, "Distant Chimes" (Byles); offertory, "Contemplation" (Clarke), and recessional, "Festival Recessional" (Nordman). Miss Betsy Eunson of the First Church of Christ sang a solo, "Come Ye Blessed" (Scott).

The 1961 World Community Day observance will be held Feb. 17 and the name of the church will be announced later.

Action Waited To Close Alley

Council is scheduled to act Monday night on a controversial proposal to close about 275 feet of a Pleasant Heights alley which owners of adjoining property have used for years as a neighborhood picnic spot and playground.

An ordinance will be presented to vacate Carroll Ln. from Sanford Ave. south to a point on the south line of Lot 6333, an overall distance of about 275 feet. Carroll Ln. lies between Dakota Ave. and Montana Ave. and runs parallel with the two thoroughfares.

A group of abutting property-owners requested the vacation months ago. But an opposition group from the same neighborhood argued the alley should not be closed. They said it is used on occasion by private cars and also is necessary for use by fire trucks and coal trucks making deliveries to homes.

The formal petition for vacating the ground was filed Sept. 6. Council now is free to act, after publishing for six consecutive weeks a legal notice on its "intent" to vacate the alley.

In the ordinance, the city reserves the right to "maintain, repair, replace and service" any utility lines in the stretch to be vacated.

Council also will consider a resolution authorizing the administration to advertise for bids and sign a contract for a new two-way radio system for the police department.

The present system is owned by the Ohio Bell Telphone Co., which services it under contract. But Ohio Bell is required to quit the radio system business by January, complying with a Federal Court order, which necessitates the city's action to find a new concern to furnish and maintain the police system.

Importance Of Voting Cited In Address Before Lions Club

The importance of casting a ballot in Tuesday's general election was stressed by Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, when he addressed the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

O'Hanlon pointed out several states were admitted to the Union by one vote, ex-President Truman received all of the state's electoral votes in 1948 by a margin of less than one vote per precinct, and Rutherford B. Hayes was named president by one electoral vote in 1876.

O'Hanlon said the election board will spend approximately $100,000 in conducting elections in Columbiana County this year, explaining that it will employ some 1,400 people on Tuesday, including extra precinct workers to aid in the tabulation of ballots.

In conducting or supervising more than 100 elections of all kinds, the veteran clerk said he never has seen so much interest in a presidential contest, explaining the issuance of 1,633 absentee ballots has broken all peacetime records.

He was introduced by John Smith, program chairman.

Dr. John Snively of Minerva, zone chairman, also spoke briefly on membership, explaining he was disappointed the local club did not take in any new members last month.

East Liverpool's goal has been set at six new members for the year, but merely reaching the goal is not sufficient, he said. The most challenging job is retention of members, he said.

Dr. Snively was introduced by George McCullough of East Liverpool, district deputy governor.

Howard Tice, president, reminded members the Board of Director will meet Monday night at Tice's Restaurant and the club will be host to the zone meeting on Nov. 15, also at Tice's.

2 City Men Among 8 Entering Army In October Recruiting

Two city men were among eight who enlisted in the Army during October, according to Sgt. Emuel Bosley, local recruiter. A Salem woman also signed for duty.

All signed for a three-year tours and most are undergoing training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Signing under the Army's graduate specialist program were Richard A. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hall, 538 Elizabeth St., and Robert M. Cowsert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cowsert of Anderson Blvd.

Cowsert, a 1959 graduate of the high school, signed for the ordnance supply school, while Hall selected the cryptography school. Hall is a 1960 graduate of ELHS.

Enlisting from Wellsville were David C. Buchner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Buchner, 1825 Chester Ave., James B. Clark, son of Mrs. Margaret E. McCaskill, 2023 Nevada St., and Kenneth T. Dean, 432 Main St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Allison S. Dean of Salineville, R. D. 1.

Dean is a veteran of four years previous Army service and was in Germany for two and a half years. He re-enlisted for direct assignment to Ft. Sill, Okla. Clark, also a veteran of three years service and saw duty in Japan. Buchner signed for training with the paratroopers.

Enlisting under the "buddy program" were Robert L. Clewell and Rockey Tripoldi, both of Salem. They selected assignment to the field artillery with duty in Europe after basic training.

Re-enlisting from Salem was Donald A. McCoy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. McCoy. He is a veteran of three years prior service. Sgt. Bosley signed Dean and McCoy for their first enlistments and also signed Dean for his second enlistment. McCoy signed this time with the Salem recruiter.

Miss Sarah Morrison of Salem R. D. 1, a 1959 graduate of Greenford High School, enlisted in the Women's Army Corps with a guaranteed assignment to attend a WAC stenography school.

Sgt. Bosley said that men and women enlisting now will have a chance to come home for the Christmas holidays. He pointed out that all the Army training centers close for nearly two weeks in December to give servicemen and women a chance to visit home during Christmas.

Do You Remember—45 Years Ago? WHEN RUDY WILK WAS ONE OF THE LEADING NEWSBOYS!

1915 And here are The Review carriers in an earlier day. These have grown to manhood now and taken their places in the community. Identifications of some of them have slipped from memory with the passing of the years. The tall boy, wearing a sport shirt, standing in the rear, fifth from the right, is Rudy Wilk, operator of the Riverview Hotel in Wellsville. Seated in front, fifth from the left is Dr. Roy C. Costello, local physician. His brother, John Costello, is shown standing at the rear next to Wilk. In the center of the picture, with a high collar and a dark coat, stands Ned Russo, who furnished the picture. To his left, in a white shirt with his arms crossed is George Salsberry. Directly in front of Russo and Salsberry, in a stooped position, is Billy Haun. On Haun's left, propped on his knees, is Frank Laufenberger. George Heckathorn stands at the top on Wilk's right. Others in the picture definitely or at least partially identified are Fred James, Donald Barnes, Alfred Webber, George Mort, Adam Mort, George Rutledge, Billy Adkins, Everett Runyon, James Nelson, Thomas Sayres, Charles Stillwell, George Clark, Early Watson, Max Miller, Samuel Miller and possibly Thomas Clark. The group of boys were accompanied by the late Everett Hall, circulation manager, who is not shown in the above picture. Mr. Hall was killed in an automobile accident near Alliance about 15 years ago while working for a Canton newspaper.

Republican Aspirants

2 Countians Seek Legislative Posts

Columbiana County has Republican nominees entered for seats in Congress and the State Senate in Tuesday's general election.

Atty. Walter Jay Hunston of Salem seeks to unseat Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, veteran Democrat, for the 18th Ohio District post in the House of Representatives and Atty. Donald W. Elliott of Rogers is running against another Belmont Countian for a second seat opened up under periodic reapportionment in the 20th-22nd State Senatorial District.

Atty. Elliott's opponent is Atty. Edmund Sargus of St. Clairsville.

Both county men, veteran campaigners, face an uphill fight because the multi-county districts in which they are running have a long record of Democratic voting, particularly in riverfront communities to the south of East Liverpool.

The congressional district is comprised of Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Carroll Counties. The senatorial district is made up of all the same counties except Carroll.

A second state senator is being elected for a two-year term under periodic reapportionment which allows the district the extra member of the upper chamber about once in 10 years. The incumbent, Sen. Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry, also will continue in office in the next biennium of the General Assembly, as he was elected to a four-year term two years ago. He also is a Democrat.

There has not been a Columbiana County man in the State Senate since the late 1950's when Jonathan C. Mason of East End was named to the second district seat under the preceding periodic reapportionment.

Rep. Hays has served continuously in Congress since 1949. He was unopposed for renomination in the May primaries. Chairman of the House delegation to NATO, he is vice president of the NATO parliamentarians' conference and also heads the subcommittee on State Department organization and foreign operations of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

He has served as a village mayor, a board of education member, a justice of the peace, a county commissioner and a member of the State Senate.

Hunston, former Salem city solicitor, was defeated by Rep. Hays in a similar race in 1954. He has practiced law in Salem since 1947. He is president of the Salem First Corp., a business enterprise organization.

A native of East Palestine, he is a son of County Commissioner Walter A. Hunston. Hunston served three years in the Navy during World War II. He also was unopposed in the primaries.

A graduate of Western Reserve Law School, Atty. Elliott has practiced law since 1935—6 years in Lisbon and since 1941 in Rogers. He won the GOP nomination for the same post six years ago, but was defeated in the general election by Sen. Blake.

He is a member of the Rogers Methodist Church, Negley Masonic Lodge, Clarkson Grange and Pomona Grange, president of the County Board of Education and past president of the County Public Health League. He formerly served as county Civil Defense director. He was nominated without opposition in the primary.

Atty. Sargus, who practices law in Bellaire, won the Democratic nomination in a four-way race. A graduate of Notre Dame University, he is a member of the Belmont County, Ohio State and American Bar Associations.

Republican Aspirants

2 Countians Seek Legislative Posts

Columbiana County has Republican nominees entered for seats in Congress and the State Senate in Tuesday's general election.

Atty. Walter Jay Hunston of Salem seeks to unseat Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, veteran Democrat, for the 18th Ohio District post in the House of Representatives and Atty. Donald W. Elliott of Rogers is running against another Belmont Countian for a second seat opened up under periodic reapportionment in the 20th-22nd State Senatorial District.

Atty. Elliott's opponent is Atty. Edmund Sargus of St. Clairsville.

Both county men, veteran campaigners, face an uphill fight because the multi-county districts in which they are running have a long record of Democratic voting, particularly in riverfront communities to the south of East Liverpool.

The congressional district is comprised of Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Carroll Counties. The senatorial district is made up of all the same counties except Carroll.

A second state senator is being elected for a two-year term under periodic reapportionment which allows the district the extra member of the upper chamber about once in 10 years. The incumbent, Sen. Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry, also will continue in office in the next biennium of the General Assembly, as he was elected to a four-year term two years ago. He also is a Democrat.

There has not been a Columbiana County man in the State Senate since the late 1950's when Jonathan C. Mason of East End was named to the second district seat under the preceding periodic reapportionment.

Rep. Hays has served continuously in Congress since 1949. He was unopposed for renomination in the May primaries. Chairman of the House delegation to NATO, he is vice president of the NATO parliamentarians' conference and also heads the subcommittee on State Department organization and foreign operations of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

He has served as a village mayor, a board of education member, a justice of the peace, a county commissioner and a member of the State Senate.

Hunston, former Salem city solicitor, was defeated by Rep. Hays in a similar race in 1954. He has practiced law in Salem since 1947. He is president of the Salem First Corp., a business enterprise organization.

A native of East Palestine, he is a son of County Commissioner Walter A. Hunston. Hunston served three years in the Navy during World War II. He also was unopposed in the primaries.

A graduate of Western Reserve Law School, Atty. Elliott has practiced law since 1935—6 years in Lisbon and since 1941 in Rogers. He won the GOP nomination for the same post six years ago, but was defeated in the general election by Sen. Blake.

He is a member of the Rogers Methodist Church, Negley Masonic Lodge, Clarkson Grange and Pomona Grange, president of the County Board of Education and past president of the County Public Health League. He formerly served as county Civil Defense director. He was nominated without opposition in the primary.

Atty. Sargus, who practices law in Bellaire, won the Democratic nomination in a four-way race. A graduate of Notre Dame University, he is a member of the Belmont County, Ohio State and American Bar Associations.

Potters Beat Salem At Own Game In Dazzling 8-6 Upset

Cunningham Runs 11 Yards For TD Before 5,000 Fans

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

A standing room crowd of more than 5,000 watched the East Liverpool Potters defeat Salem at its own game — defense — Friday night at Reilly Stadium.

A gallant Potter line turned the tide for an 8-6 victory for East Liverpool, which is acquiring the title of spoiler.

It was the biggest upset victory for East Liverpool since the Potters knocked off Warren during the 1959 season.

Most of the 5,000 fans were kept on the edge of their seats most of the evening. It was just that type of a game.

THE LOSS stripped a fine Salem team of everything and the Quakers will have to start all over again.

Here's what the defeat meant to Salem:

It spoiled their bid for an undefeated season.

Probably will knock them out of the top 10 teams in Ohio. They were 8th this week.

Ended a 13-game winning streak compiled over two seasons.

Ended a three-year domination over East Liverpool.

In the hard fought battle which brought two fine teams on the gridiron, the Potters had to come from behind to win their sixth game in nine starts and assure Coach Lou Venditti of a winning season for 1960.

All-Ohio candidate Kenny Cunningham put on an exhibition of fearless running out of his quarterback spot. He scored the Potters' lone touchdown on an 11-yard run in the second quarter to tie the score at 6-6.

His pass to fullback John Goodballet in the right flat netted the two-point conversion and the margin of victory.

Goodballet just made it into the corner of the end zone, almost stepping out on the one-foot mark.

SALEM SCORED with 2:09 left in the first quarter after Cunningham's punt was partially blocked and the Quakers took over on the Potter 24-yard line.

It took Salem 7 plays to drive to the 1-yard line, from where quarterback Gary Devan followed the center of his line in for the TD.

Coach Blaine Morton of Salem went for the one-point conversion, as is Salem's custom, but Ricky Sulea's kick went wide to the left.

The Potter's defensive line of Mike Geon, Tim Archer, Skip Hall, Joe Smith, Jeff Hayes, Bud Myers, Larry Crook and Glenn Mays threw up a roadblock in front of the Salem backs the rest of the way.

East Liverpool's defense last night was geared to stop Ron Janovec, a slashing 200-pound fullback, and did.

Janovec, who is use to picking up between 80 and 100 yards a game, was held to only 43 yards rushing, his lowest total this season.

The Salem squad only picked up 103 yards on the ground.

Meanwhile East Liverpool showed 175 yards against the vaunted Salem line and had a 14-8 edge in first downs.

Salem's defensive forces were strong, too, topping two Potter threats inside the 10-yard line in the second half.

DON DAVIDSON is one of the finest defensive ends to come along in sometime and along with guard Fred Harshman put the rush on Cunningham several times.

Salem also came up with one of the tightest pass defenses of the season, but didn't stop Cunningham completely. When the Potter quarterback found it tough to pass, he would run with the ball and picked up 65 yards on the turf.

Cunningham fired 10 passes and completed five, all short gains for a total of 48 yards in the air.

The other outstanding features of the Potter offense was the running of John Goodballet and Joe Thompson. Goodballet got 51 yards, while Thompson was right behind with 48.

The contest became a game of inches. On many occasions the difference was an inch.

When Goodballet scored the 2-point conversion he just squeezed into the corner of the end zone.

On East Liverpool's scoring drive, Cunningham made a first and ten on a fourth down play by an inch on the Salem 13-yard line in the second quarter.

And the Quakers missed a first down by an inch early in the fourth quarter when Salem marched to the Potter 24.

JANOVEC attempted to get the first down on a fourth and one situation, but the Potter line rose to the occasion and Geon, Mays and Hays pushed the big runner to the ground.

East Liverpool took over on its 24 and spent most of the remainder of the game holding on to the ball.

East Liverpool had one touchdown called back late in the first quarter. Thompson went flashing 15 yards into the end zone, but an official caught Tim Archer clipping on the 5-yard line and the ball went back to the 20.

The Potters got back to the Salem 11, but Cunningham was thrown for a 12-yard loss and the threat ended.

The first quarter was a nightmare for the Potters.

A 15-yard holding penalty on the second play from scrimmage put them back on their own 24. Tom Kraft, back to punt, twisted before the ball was snapped and was called for illegal motion.

This gave Salem possesion on the Potter 25. The Quakers with every back running the ball but Janovec, who was doing the faking, moved to the Potter 5. Janovec picked up 4 yards and a first down on the one.

On first down at the one, Salem was called for offensive holding and suffered a 15-yard penalty.

The officials took the ball back to the Potter 16. On first down Thompson made a fine play when he batted a pass out of the hands of end Don Davidson.

ON SECOND down, quarterback Kevan fumbled and Archer came up with the ball on the 15.

Later in the hectic first quarter Cunningham's punt was partially blocked and went straight up in the air, carrying only 11 yards.

This led to Salem's only touchdown.

Moving into the second quarter, Sulea got off a booming punt which covered 48 yards to the Potter 25.

From here East Liverpool started playing a Salem's type of ball, grinding out yardage by mixing up passes and running plays.

The drive started with Cunningham hitting Archer with a pass good for 7 yards.

Moving up to its own 44, East Liverpool was faced with a fourth and one situation.

Venditti elected to gamble and got away with it as Goodballet went off the left side for four yards and a first down on the 48.

Cunningham and Goodballet hooked up as a passing team, hitting three straight on gains of 11, 17 and 1. This pushed the drive to the Salem 23.

Goodballet took a wide pitchout from Cunningham and passed down field to Geon. The ball hit Geon on the hands, but he couldn't hold the ball in the end zone.

CUNNINGHAM went back to the ground and picked up a first down in two carries. With first down on the Salem 13, Goodballet got 2 to the 11. A play later, Cunningham just made it over the goal line for the touchdown.

It took a key block by veteran tackle Hall to give Kenny running room.

East Liverpool threatened twice in the second half. One drive stopped on the Salem 6-yard line when Cunningham fumbled and Bob Elsner recovered. That came with 4:09 left in the third period.

Again in the fourth period, East Liverpool marched to the Salem 4, but gave the ball up on downs to a stout Salem forward wall with 1:04 remaining in the game.

Salem tried in vain in a last-ditch effort. Davidson, usually on the receiving end, was the passer in the last minute of the game and hit Bill Beery with a pass good for 28 yards moving the ball from the Salem 12 to the 38, but the game ended a play later.

'Sweet Victory,' Lou Says

Potters 'Live It Up' After Pulling Big Upset Friday

"It was a sweet victory and a great ball game. There were no stars out there tonight. It was a team effort," Coach Lou Venditti said in the dressing room at Salem Friday night as the Potters were "living it up."

"This is the scrappiest bunch I ever coached," Venditti added with a smile. "You know this gives us a winning season, something we didn't think we would have."

Venditti was almost as happy last night over the Salem victory as he was a year ago in Warren, which he claimed was the game that gave him his biggest thrill in coaching.

The Potter coach added, "I feel sorry for Blaine Morton (Salem's head coach). He's a swell guy and I know how tough it is to have an undefeated season. He's a fine coach."

EAST LIVERPOOL players were celebrating the victory by toasting with milk, throwing in a cheer here and there and congratulating each other.

Frank Dawson, the team trainer and No. 1 backer, received a dunking in the showers after the game.

As the final whistle blew, Cunningham was carried off the field by his teammates. But he was just one star among many Friday night following a real team effort.

MAYOR BERT H. Goodballet of East Liverpool hopped in a cruiser and was driven out Route 30 and met the Potter bus at the Pearl China Co., congratulating the team and coaching staff. The squad was escorted into town, where the high school band and students greeted them in the Diamond.

The team had a chicken dinner at the Travelers Hotel later.

AL Draft Rosters Are Frozen Until Draft On Dec. 1

LOS ANGELES (AP) — American League draft rosters as of Monday are being frozen until the player draft Dec. 1.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick is taking the step, he told newsmen today, to guard against irregularities.

"If a club has 40 players it cannot draft any," said Frick, "whereas a club with only 38 would be eligible to draft two. We'll put on a similar freeze in the National League when it expands to Houston and New York in 1962."

Frick said his action is being taken after discussions with Joe Cronin, president of the American League, and Warren Giles, who heads the National.

The freeze will have no effect on interleague trading, which starts Nov. 21 and ends Dec. 11.

83,000 Wait Pro Grid Fray In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — The largest crowd ever to attend a professional football game in Cleveland is expected at Municipal Stadium Sunday afternoon when the Cleveland Browns clash with the New York Giants for the first time this season.

The Browns announced Friday night that 5,000 tickets for standing room at the game will go on sale at the gates at 1 p.m. Sunday —one hour before game time. Sale of all the tickets would push the crowd to more than 83,000, compared with the stadium's pro football record of 82,769 set in 1948 when the Browns beat the San Francisco 49ers, 14-7.

The stadium's seating capacity of 78,166 was sold out in advance for the first time in the Browns' history.

Losers of five straight games to the Giants in the last two seasons, the Browns were in high spirits following the last lengthy practice of the week Friday at League Park. The general feeling of the club was that it's overdue for a victory over the defending champions of the National Football League's eastern division.

Coach Jim Lee Howell of the Giants still has not decided whether Charley Conerly, his veteran quarterback, will play against the Browns. Whether Conerly will start will depend on how he does in a short drill in New York today and in pre-game throwing Sunday.

Conerly, bothered by a sore right elbow, has not played since the first half of the Giants' 24-24 tie with the Washington Redskins Oct. 16.

George Shaw willl get the call at quarterback if Conerly is unable to play.

The Eagles (4-1) will be all alone at the top if the Giants can pull an upset, and if the Eagles whip the visiting Pittsburgh Steelers (2-3-1). The Eagles are considered a touchdown better than Pittsburgh.

The big game in the Western Conference is the first-place meeting at Baltimore where the defending champion Colts (4-2) attempt to overtake the Green Bay Packers (4-1). The Colts are 8-point favorites to knock off the Packers who upset them 35-21 at Green Bay Oct. 9. The Chicago Bears (3-2-1) are idle.

Elsewhere, in a full six - game card, the St. Louis Cardinals (3-3) are home favorites by a TD over the Washington Redskins (1-2-2), the Los Angeles Rams (1-4-1) get the nod by 11 over the Cowboys (0-6) at Dallas and the San Francisco 49ers (3-3) are rated 7 better than the visiting Detroit Lions (1-4).

Unbeaten Iowa, Minnesota Game May Decide Title

By The Associated Press

Top-ranked Iowa and Minnesota, the nation's No. 3 team, meet today in a battle of unbeaten giants which could ultimately determine the Big Ten football championship.

A triumph for the visiting Hawkeyes wuld assure Iowa of at least a share of the championship even if Coach Forest Evashevski's speedsters should lose to once-beaten Ohio State next week.

If Minnesota is victorious, the Gophers could latch onto the championship by whipping Purdue and Wisconsin in the last two weeks of the campaign.

Ohio State, the only other team with a merited chance for the Big Ten crown, is expected to have little difficulty with Indiana.

Other games find Michigan State at Purdue, Northwestern at Wisconsin and Illinois at Michigan.

Leopards End Season, Take 28-6 Setback

Midland High's Leopards closed the books on one of their poorest football campaigns in years as they fell before a king - sized Freedom eleven, 28-6, before some 900 fans at Lincoln Stadium in Midland Friday night.

Stripped by graduation, the Leopards finished the 1960 campaign with a 1-6-1 record under new Coach Charles Polce. Inexperience played a major role in the Leopards' decline to the doormat of the Western Pennsylvania loop.

Freedom, with a big-husky line, pounced on a Midland fumble at the 12-yard line to move ahead for Lavelle's pass for a touchdown to Haglan. Bashaar's boot gave Freedom a 7-0 lead with three minutes gone in the second period.

The winners scored a safety in the second quarter when Midland center Vukelich centered the pigskin over the head of Cheuldenko into the end zone.

Ruckert of Freedom dashed 47 yards in the same quarter to set up another score. Lavelle bucked over from two yards out, putting Freedom ahead 15-0 at halftime.

Lavelle passed to Krall with six minutes gone in the third quarter to hoist Freedom ahead, 22-0. The conversion was a boot from placement by Bashaar.

Freedom's final touchdown came on a 17-yard run by Ruckert with five minutes expired in the fourth quarter. Midland scored with three minutes left in the game, with Steve Trbovich, quarterback, tossing a 25-yard pass to end Don Camp. A pass failed for the conversion.

Potters Beat Salem At Own Game In Dazzling 8-6 Upset

Cunningham Runs 11 Yards For TD Before 5,000 Fans

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

A standing room crowd of more than 5,000 watched the East Liverpool Potters defeat Salem at its own game — defense — Friday night at Reilly Stadium.

A gallant Potter line turned the tide for an 8-6 victory for East Liverpool, which is acquiring the title of spoiler.

It was the biggest upset victory for East Liverpool since the Potters knocked off Warren during the 1959 season.

Most of the 5,000 fans were kept on the edge of their seats most of the evening. It was just that type of a game.

THE LOSS stripped a fine Salem team of everything and the Quakers will have to start all over again.

Here's what the defeat meant to Salem:

It spoiled their bid for an undefeated season.

Probably will knock them out of the top 10 teams in Ohio. They were 8th this week.

Ended a 13-game winning streak compiled over two seasons.

Ended a three-year domination over East Liverpool.

In the hard fought battle which brought two fine teams on the gridiron, the Potters had to come from behind to win their sixth game in nine starts and assure Coach Lou Venditti of a winning season for 1960.

All-Ohio candidate Kenny Cunningham put on an exhibition of fearless running out of his quarterback spot. He scored the Potters' lone touchdown on an 11-yard run in the second quarter to tie the score at 6-6.

His pass to fullback John Goodballet in the right flat netted the two-point conversion and the margin of victory.

Goodballet just made it into the corner of the end zone, almost stepping out on the one-foot mark.

SALEM SCORED with 2:09 left in the first quarter after Cunningham's punt was partially blocked and the Quakers took over on the Potter 24-yard line.

It took Salem 7 plays to drive to the 1-yard line, from where quarterback Gary Devan followed the center of his line in for the TD.

Coach Blaine Morton of Salem went for the one-point conversion, as is Salem's custom, but Ricky Sulea's kick went wide to the left.

The Potter's defensive line of Mike Geon, Tim Archer, Skip Hall, Joe Smith, Jeff Hayes, Bud Myers, Larry Crook and Glenn Mays threw up a roadblock in front of the Salem backs the rest of the way.

East Liverpool's defense last night was geared to stop Ron Janovec, a slashing 200-pound fullback, and did.

Janovec, who is use to picking up between 80 and 100 yards a game, was held to only 43 yards rushing, his lowest total this season.

The Salem squad only picked up 103 yards on the ground.

Meanwhile East Liverpool showed 175 yards against the vaunted Salem line and had a 14-8 edge in first downs.

Salem's defensive forces were strong, too, topping two Potter threats inside the 10-yard line in the second half.

DON DAVIDSON is one of the finest defensive ends to come along in sometime and along with guard Fred Harshman put the rush on Cunningham several times.

Salem also came up with one of the tightest pass defenses of the season, but didn't stop Cunningham completely. When the Potter quarterback found it tough to pass, he would run with the ball and picked up 65 yards on the turf.

Cunningham fired 10 passes and completed five, all short gains for a total of 48 yards in the air.

The other outstanding features of the Potter offense was the running of John Goodballet and Joe Thompson. Goodballet got 51 yards, while Thompson was right behind with 48.

The contest became a game of inches. On many occasions the difference was an inch.

When Goodballet scored the 2-point conversion he just squeezed into the corner of the end zone.

On East Liverpool's scoring drive, Cunningham made a first and ten on a fourth down play by an inch on the Salem 13-yard line in the second quarter.

And the Quakers missed a first down by an inch early in the fourth quarter when Salem marched to the Potter 24.

JANOVEC attempted to get the first down on a fourth and one situation, but the Potter line rose to the occasion and Geon, Mays and Hays pushed the big runner to the ground.

East Liverpool took over on its 24 and spent most of the remainder of the game holding on to the ball.

East Liverpool had one touchdown called back late in the first quarter. Thompson went flashing 15 yards into the end zone, but an official caught Tim Archer clipping on the 5-yard line and the ball went back to the 20.

The Potters got back to the Salem 11, but Cunningham was thrown for a 12-yard loss and the threat ended.

The first quarter was a nightmare for the Potters.

A 15-yard holding penalty on the second play from scrimmage put them back on their own 24. Tom Kraft, back to punt, twisted before the ball was snapped and was called for illegal motion.

This gave Salem possession on the Potter 25. The Quakers with every back running the ball but Janovec, who was doing the faking, moved to the Potter 5. Janovec picked up 4 yards and a first down on the one.

On first down at the one, Salem was called for offensive holding and suffered a 15-yard penalty.

The officials took the ball back to the Potter 16. On first down Thompson made a fine play when he batted a pass out of the hands of end Don Davidson.

ON SECOND down, quarterback Kevan fumbled and Archer came up with the ball on the 15.

Later in the hectic first quarter Cunningham's punt was partially blocked and went straight up in the air, carrying only 11 yards.

This led to Salem's only touchdown.

Moving into the second quarter, Sulea got off a booming punt which covered 48 yards to the Potter 25.

From here East Liverpool started playing a Salem's type of ball, grinding out yardage by mixing up passes and running plays.

The drive started with Cunningham hitting Archer with a pass good for 7 yards.

Moving up to its own 44, East Liverpool was faced with a fourth and one situation.

Venditti elected to gamble and got away with it as Goodballet went off the left side for four yards and a first down on the 48.

Cunningham and Goodballet hooked up as a passing team, hitting three straight on gains of 11, 17 and 1. This pushed the drive to the Salem 23.

Goodballet took a wide pitchout from Cunningham and passed down field to Geon. The ball hit Geon on the hands, but he couldn't hold the ball in the end zone.

CUNNINGHAM went back to the ground and picked up a first down in two carries. With first down on the Salem 13, Goodballet got 2 to the 11. A play later, Cunningham just made it over the goal line for the touchdown.

It took a key block by veteran tackle Hall to give Kenny running room.

East Liverpool threatened twice in the second half. One drive stopped on the Salem 6-yard line when Cunningham fumbled and Bob Elsner recovered. That came with 4:09 left in the third period.

Again in the fourth period, East Liverpool marched to the Salem 4, but gave the ball up on downs to a stout Salem forward wall with 1:04 remaining in the game.

Salem tried in vain in a last-ditch effort. Davidson, usually on the receiving end, was the passer in the last minute of the game and hit Bill Beery with a pass good for 28 yards moving the ball from the Salem 12 to the 38, but the game ended a play later.

'Sweet Victory,' Lou Says

Potters 'Live It Up' After Pulling Big Upset Friday

"It was a sweet victory and a great ball game. There were no stars out there tonight. It was a team effort," Coach Lou Venditti said in the dressing room at Salem Friday night as the Potters were "living it up."

"This is the scrappiest bunch I ever coached," Venditti added with a smile. "You know this gives us a winning season, something we didn't think we would have."

Venditti was almost as happy last night over the Salem victory as he was a year ago in Warren, which he claimed was the game that gave him his biggest thrill in coaching.

The Potter coach added, "I feel sorry for Blaine Morton (Salem's head coach). He's a swell guy and I know how tough it is to have an undefeated season. He's a fine coach."

EAST LIVERPOOL players were celebrating the victory by toasting with milk, throwing in a cheer here and there and congratulating each other.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick is taking the step, he told newsmen today, to guard against irregularities.

"If a club has 40 players it cannot draft any," said Frick, "whereas a club with only 38 would be eligible to draft two. We'll put on a similar freeze in the National League when it expands to Houston and New York in 1962."

Frick said his action is being taken after discussions with Joe Cronin, president of the American League, and Warren Giles, who heads the National.

The freeze will have no effect on interleague trading, which starts Nov. 21 and ends Dec. 11.

83,000 Wait Pro Grid Fray In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — The largest crowd ever to attend a professional football game in Cleveland is expected at Municipal Stadium Sunday afternoon when the Cleveland Browns clash with the New York Giants for the first time this season.

The Browns announced Friday night that 5,000 tickets for standing room at the game will go on sale at the gates at 1 p.m. Sunday —one hour before game time. Sale of all the tickets would push the crowd to more than 83,000, compared with the stadium's pro football record of 82,769 set in 1948 when the Browns beat the San Francisco 49ers, 14-7.

The stadium's seating capacity of 78,166 was sold out in advance for the first time in the Browns' history.

Losers of five straight games to the Giants in the last two seasons, the Browns were in high spirits following the last lengthy practice of the week Friday at League Park. The general feeling of the club was that it's overdue for a victory over the defending champions of the National Football League's eastern division.

Coach Jim Lee Howell of the Giants still has not decided whether Charley Conerly, his veteran quarterback, will play against the Browns. Whether Conerly will start will depend on how he does in a short drill in New York today and in pre-game throwing Sunday.

Conerly, bothered by a sore right elbow, has not played since the first half of the Giants' 24-24 tie with the Washington Redskins Oct. 16.

George Shaw willl get the call at quarterback if Conerly is unable to play.

The Eagles (4-1) will be all alone at the top if the Giants can pull an upset, and if the Eagles whip the visiting Pittsburgh Steelers (2-3-1). The Eagles are considered a touchdown better than Pittsburgh.

The big game in the Western Conference is the first-place meeting at Baltimore where the defending champion Colts (4-2) attempt to overtake the Green Bay Packers (4-1). The Colts are 8-point favorites to knock off the Packers who upset them 35-21 at Green Bay Oct. 9. The Chicago Bears (3-2-1) are idle.

Elsewhere, in a full six - game card, the St. Louis Cardinals (3-3) are home favorites by a TD over the Washington Redskins (1-2-2), the Los Angeles Rams (1-4-1) get the nod by 11 over the Cowboys (0-6) at Dallas and the San Francisco 49ers (3-3) are rated 7 better than the visiting Detroit Lions (1-4).

Unbeaten Iowa, Minnesota Game May Decide Title

By The Associated Press

Top-ranked Iowa and Minnesota, the nation's No. 3 team, meet today in a battle of unbeaten giants which could ultimately determine the Big Ten football championship.

A triumph for the visiting Hawkeyes wuld assure Iowa of at least a share of the championship even if Coach Forest Evashevski's speedsters should lose to once-beaten Ohio State next week.

If Minnesota is victorious, the Gophers could latch onto the championship by whipping Purdue and Wisconsin in the last two weeks of the campaign.

Ohio State, the only other team with a merited chance for the Big Ten crown, is expected to have little difficulty with Indiana.

Other games find Michigan State at Purdue, Northwestern at Wisconsin and Illinois at Michigan.

Leopards End Season, Take 28-6 Setback

Midland High's Leopards closed the books on one of their poorest football campaigns in years as they fell before a king - sized Freedom eleven, 28-6, before some 900 fans at Lincoln Stadium in Midland Friday night.

Stripped by graduation, the Leopards finished the 1960 campaign with a 1-6-1 record under new Coach Charles Polce. Inexperience played a major role in the Leopards' decline to the doormat of the Western Pennsylvania loop.

Freedom, with a big-husky line, pounced on a Midland fumble at the 12-yard line to move ahead for Lavelle's pass for a touchdown to Haglan. Bashaar's boot gave Freedom a 7-0 lead with three minutes gone in the second period.

The winners scored a safety in the second quarter when Midland center Vukelich centered the pigskin over the head of Cheuldenko into the end zone.

Ruckert of Freedom dashed 47 yards in the same quarter to set up another score. Lavelle bucked over from two yards out, putting Freedom ahead 15-0 at halftime.

Lavelle passed to Krall with six minutes gone in the third quarter to hoist Freedom ahead, 22-0. The conversion was a boot from placement by Bashaar.

Freedom's final touchdown came on a 17-yard run by Ruckert with five minutes expired in the fourth quarter. Midland scored with three minutes left in the game, with Steve Trbovich, quarterback, tossing a 25-yard pass to end Don Camp. A pass failed for the conversion.

Brown Races For 4 TD's; Wellsville Dumps Beavers, 38-6

3,000 See Tigers Avenge Loss From Last Year

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High's Dick Brown scored four touchdowns and his Tiger mates wrote a bit of football history as they scuttled determined Beaver Local, 38-6, in a grudge battle Friday night.

More than 3,000 fans — biggest turnout in years — saw Coach Ken Woods' Tigers rebound from two successive defeats and gain revenge for last year's 6-2 upset in their final appearance in Nicholson Stadium this season.

Wellsville, leading only 8-6 at halftime, exploded for 22 points in the third period — the big assist coming on a thrilling 72-yard punt return by halfback Bill Hickman.

THE TRIUMPH boosted Wellsville's season record to 6-2-1 as the team became the highest scoring club in the school's history. The previous team scoring mark of 240 points was shattered on Brown's 11-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. The standard now is 273, and could zoom higher with one more foe left on the 1960 slate.

The fierce Tiger line, packing a fairly big weight advantage, proved the deciding factor in the hard-fought game.

Beaver Local threats were few and far between and standout halfback Ron McLaughlin couldn't get the blocks to help him flash the form that has sparked the Beavers to their finest football season.

McLaughlin's sweeping end runs were held to short gains by the Wellsville defenders and his 15 carries netted only 15 yards.

He scored the Beavers' lone touchdown, however, with a great catch of Mike Klembara's up-the-middle pass in the second quarter in a 51-yard play.

BROWN, THE senior co-captain, turned in his greatest offensive performance for Wellsville in scoring touchdowns on runs of 11, 36, 36 and 16 yards.

One other time, he broke loose for a 54-yard gain in the first quarter and was hauled down from behind after a long chase by Beaver Local scatback Bob Possage.

All told, Brown rushed for 200 yards in 16 carries — a dazzling 12.5 yards average per try. He also scored a conversion on a rush.

Coach Jack O'Rourke, bringing his Beaver Local team against his alma mater, had nothing but praise for his squad after the game for determination and scrap. Of McLaughlin, he said, "I still think he's the best halfback in this area. He couldn't gain much tonight because of inadequate blocking."

O'Rourke singled out John Broadbent, McLaughlin and Klembara for outstanding merits. The Beavers stand 7-2 for the season, the defeat being their second in a row since winning seven in succession.

COACH WOODS of Wellsville, dripping wet from a dunk in the showers by his team, thought the turning point of the battle came in the third quarter when Brown threaded his way 36 yards and Quarterback Roger Ours passed to end Bob Kiggans for a conversion which put the Tigers ahead, 16-6.

Moments later, Hickman scooted 72 yards down the sidelines for another touchdown, which seemed to take some of the fire out of the Beavers.

"I thought our line made a big difference," Woods declared. "Baldwin (Phil), Thompson (Mike) and the Culp boys — Jack and Ralph — all played good ball," he added. Guard Roger Merriman, a regular starter, missed the action because of an infected knee.

Woods also voiced the opinion that an unexpected appearance of regular tackle Alvin Jackson, a kick-off specialist, also lifted Wellsville's spirits after a letdown in the unexpected defeat to Jefferson Union last week. Jackson came on the field late and was not expected to don his uniform because of a death in the family. "He helped us a lot by playing," Woods said.

BEAVER LOCAL'S ground game produced only 111 yards in rushing, but Klembara clicked occasionally in the air to McLaughlin and end Gary Williams to keep the game tight in the first half.

Fumbles hurt Beaver Local. They fumbled six times and recovered only three.

Wellsville drove 78 yards in only five plays for its first touchdown with 6:09 left in the first period. Brown broke loose from the Wellsville 22 and was hauled down from behind by Possage at the Beaver Local 25, to set up the score. Three rushes planted the ball on the 11, from where Brown went into the end zone. Ours, appearing entirely healthy after three days in the hospital this week with injuries, ran over the conversion for an 8-0 lead.

The Beavers retaliated with 10:39 left in the second quarter as Klembara faded back and tossed a long pass to McLaughlin racing up the middle of the field. McLaughlin hauled in the ball over his shoulder and outraced one defender to score on a play covering 51 yards. His run for the conversion was short and Wellsville took an 8-6 lead into the locker room at halftime.

The Tigers received the second half kickoff and scored the touchdown which broke open the tight game with 10:30 left in the third period. They moved from their own 36 to the Beaver Local 36 in three plays and Brown went the distance on a pitchout around right end. Ours flipped to Kiggans for the extra points and the Tigers moved ahead, 16-6.

Hickman, fastest back on the Wellsville squad, hauled in McLaughlin,s punt a few minutes later on the Wellsville 28 and sailed down the sidelines to put the Tigers ahead, 24-6.

The exciting dash signaled the end for the Beavers as their offense sputtered the rest of the game. A drizzle began falling near the end of the third period.

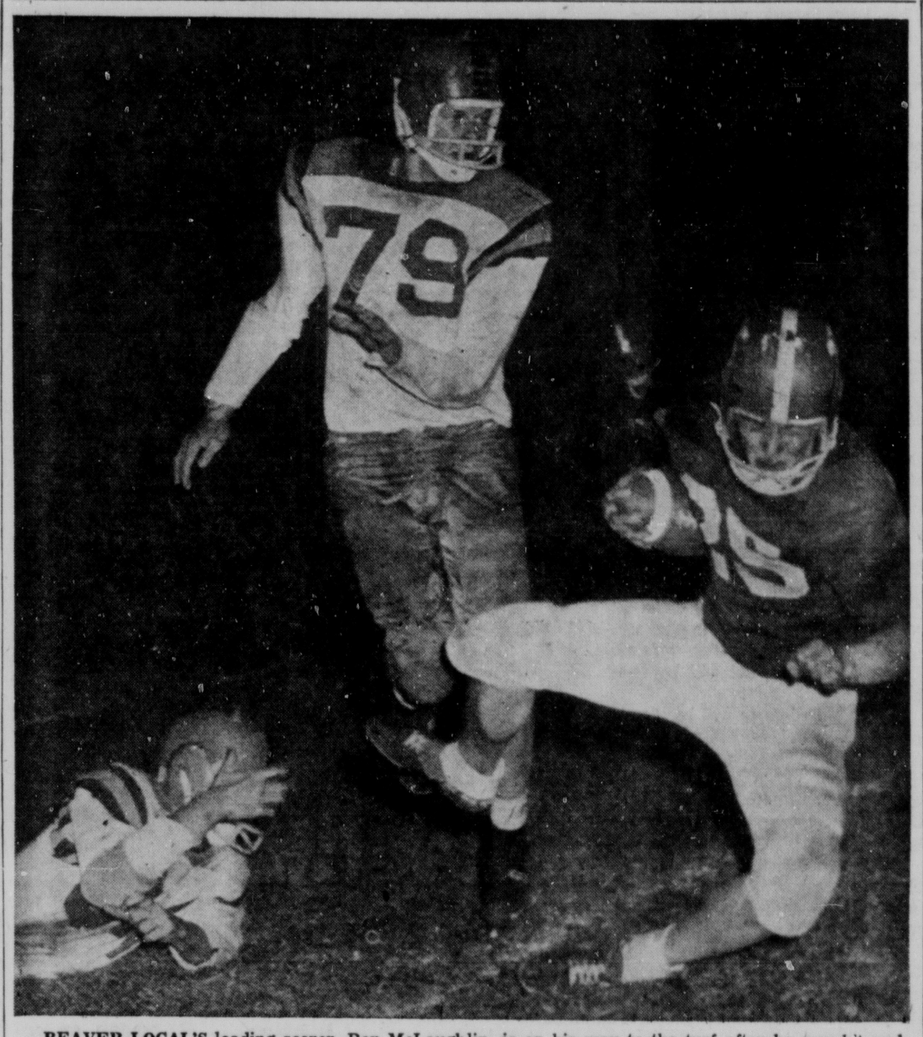
Newell Drops 1960 Finale, 48-20



BEAVER LOCAL'S leading scorer, Ron McLaughlin, is on his way to the turf after he was hit and brought down in the Wellsville-Beaver Local game Friday night. No. 79 coming up for the stop is Phil Baldwin.

Fairfield Eleven Deals 9th Defeat

Newell failed in its last chance to nail a victory during the 1960 season when Fairfield - Waterford carried off a 48-20 win Friday night at Newell's Memorial Stadium.

The Rebels from New Waterford smashed a 7-7 tie at the end of the first quarter by scoring two touchdowns in each of the remaining periods.

It was the fifth victory in nine starts for Fairfield-Waterford.

Newell drew first blood when Ed Weirsbecki toted the ball 3 yards for a score to climax a 60-yard march in the first period.

Slaven galloped 30 yards in the same period to tie the score.

Newell went back into the lead again when quarterback Mick Staley on a keeper play went into the end zone from 10 yards out, but Fairfield's Larry Webber ran 9 yards to bring the count even at 13-13.

With 35 seconds to go in the first half, Larry Messenger intercepted one of Staley's passes and scooted 60 yards for the TD.

This gave the Rebels a 20-13 lead and margin they never lost.

In the second half, Pepel went in from 6 yards out, Messenger ran 13 yards for a touchdown, Brothers plunged in from the 3-yard line and Ruppert capped the scoring by going 18 yards with an intercepted pass.

Newell scored, once in the second half. Eugene Hart was on the receiving end of a Staley pass which covered 70 yards.

Newell closed the season with an 0-9 record.

Lisbon Upsets Columbiana; Bucher Carried From Field

LISBON — Bud Bucher was hoisted upon the shoulders of his players here Friday night and carried from the field after Lisbon had upset Columbiana, 28-0.

It was probably the last time Bucher will coach before a Lisbon crowd because he resigned last month as head football coach and the resignation will be effective after next week's finale with Canton-Jackson.

The victory marked a fitting end for Bucher whose teams have won 103 games during his stay at Lisbon.

Last night's win was Lisbon fourth straight. The Blue Devils have come along way after dropping their first five games of the season.

Rick Bowling and sophomore passing sensation Larry McPherson were most of the show Friday.

Bowling took two passes covering 78 and 11 yards for touchdowns and then intercepted another and ran 70 yards for the score.

Roger McCaughin scored the other on a pass from McPherson, his third TD toss of the evening.

Fumbles and several injuries hampered Columbiana's attack. The loss was only Columbiana's second in nine games.

The fierce Tiger line, packing a fairly big weight advantage, proved the deciding factor in the hard-fought game.

Beaver Local threats were few and far between and standout halfback Ron McLaughlin couldn't get the blocks to help him flash the form that has sparked the Beavers to their finest football season.

McLaughlin's sweeping end runs were held to short gains by the Wellsville defenders and his 15 carries netted only 15 yards.

He scored the Beavers' lone touchdown, however, with a great catch of Mike Klembara's up-the-middle pass in the second quarter in a 51-yard play.

BROWN, THE senior co-captain, turned in his greatest offensive performance for Wellsville in scoring touchdowns on runs of 11, 36, 36 and 16 yards.

One other time, he broke loose for a 54-yard gain in the first quarter and was hauled down from behind after a long chase by Beaver Local scatback Bob Possage.

All told, Brown rushed for 200 yards in 16 carries — a dazzling 12.5 yards average per try. He also scored a conversion on a rush.

Coach Jack O'Rourke, bringing his Beaver Local team against his alma mater, had nothing but praise for his squad after the game for determination and scrap. Of McLaughlin, he said, "I still think he's the best halfback in this area. He couldn't gain much tonight because of inadequate blocking."

O'Rourke singled out John Broadbent, McLaughlin and Klembara for outstanding merits. The Beavers stand 7-2 for the season, the defeat being their second in a row since winning seven in succession.

COACH WOODS of Wellsville, dripping wet from a dunk in the showers by his team, thought the turning point of the battle came in the third quarter when Brown threaded his way 36 yards and Quarterback Roger Ours passed to end Bob Kiggans for a conversion which put the Tigers ahead, 16-6.

Moments later, Hickman scooted 72 yards down the sidelines for another touchdown, which seemed to take some of the fire out of the Beavers.

"I thought our line made a big difference," Woods declared. "Baldwin (Phil), Thompson (Mike) and the Culp boys — Jack and Ralph — all played good ball," he added. Guard Roger Merriman, a regular starter, missed the action because of an infected knee.

Woods also voiced the opinion that an unexpected appearance of regular tackle Alvin Jackson, a kick-off specialist, also lifted Wellsville's spirits after a letdown in the unexpected defeat to Jefferson Union last week. Jackson came on the field late and was not expected to don his uniform because of a death in the family. "He helped us a lot by playing," Woods said.

BEAVER LOCAL'S ground game produced only 111 yards in rushing, but Klembara clicked occasionally in the air to McLaughlin and end Gary Williams to keep the game tight in the first half.

Fumbles hurt Beaver Local. They fumbled six times and recovered only three.

Wellsville drove 78 yards in only five plays for its first touchdown with 6:09 left in the first period. Brown broke loose from the Wellsville 22 and was hauled down from behind by Possage at the Beaver Local 25, to set up the score. Three rushes planted the ball on the 11, from where Brown went into the end zone. Ours, appearing entirely healthy after three days in the hospital this week with injuries, ran over the conversion for an 8-0 lead.

The Beavers retaliated with 10:39 left in the second quarter as Klembara faded back and tossed a long pass to McLaughlin racing up the middle of the field. McLaughlin hauled in the ball over his shoulder and outraced one defender to score on a play covering 51 yards. His run for the conversion was short and Wellsville took an 8-6 lead into the locker room at halftime.

The Tigers received the second half kickoff and scored the touchdown which broke open the tight game with 10:30 left in the third period. They moved from their own 36 to the Beaver Local 36 in three plays and Brown went the distance on a pitchout around right end. Ours flipped to Kiggans for the extra points and the Tigers moved ahead, 16-6.

Hickman, fastest back on the Wellsville squad, hauled in McLaughlin's punt a few minutes later on the Wellsville 28 and sailed down the sidelines to put the Tigers ahead, 24-6.

The exciting dash signaled the end for the Beavers as their offense sputtered the rest of the game. A drizzle began falling near the end of the third period.

Newell Drops 1960 Finale, 48-20

BEAVER LOCAL'S leading scorer, Ron McLaughlin, is on his way to the turf after he was hit and brought down in the Wellsville-Beaver Local game Friday night. No. 79 coming up for the stop is Phil Baldwin.

Fairfield Eleven Deals 9th Defeat

Newell failed in its last chance to nail a victory during the 1960 season when Fairfield - Waterford carried off a 48-20 win Friday night at Newell's Memorial Stadium.

The Rebels from New Waterford smashed a 7-7 tie at the end of the first quarter by scoring two touchdowns in each of the remaining periods.

It was the fifth victory in nine starts for Fairfield-Waterford.

Newell drew first blood when Ed Weirsbecki toted the ball 3 yards for a score to climax a 60-yard march in the first period.

Slaven galloped 30 yards in the same period to tie the score.

Newell went back into the lead again when quarterback Mick Staley on a keeper play went into the end zone from 10 yards out, but Fairfield's Larry Webber ran 9 yards to bring the count even at 13-13.

With 35 seconds to go in the first half, Larry Messenger intercepted one of Staley's passes and scooted 60 yards for the TD.

This gave the Rebels a 20-13 lead and margin they never lost.

In the second half, Pepel went in from 6 yards out, Messenger ran 13 yards for a touchdown, Brothers plunged in from the 3-yard line and Ruppert capped the scoring by going 18 yards with an intercepted pass.

Newell scored, once in the second half. Eugene Hart was on the receiving end of a Staley pass which covered 70 yards.

Newell closed the season with an 0-9 record.

Lisbon Upsets Columbiana; Bucher Carried From Field

LISBON — Bud Bucher was hoisted upon the shoulders of his players here Friday night and carried from the field after Lisbon had upset Columbiana, 28-0.

It was probably the last time Bucher will coach before a Lisbon crowd because he resigned last month as head football coach and the resignation will be effective after next week's finale with Canton-Jackson.

The victory marked a fitting end for Bucher whose teams have won 103 games during his stay at Lisbon.

Last night's win was Lisbon fourth straight. The Blue Devils have come along way after dropping their first five games of the season.

Rick Bowling and sophomore passing sensation Larry McPherson were most of the show Friday.

Bowling took two passes covering 78 and 11 yards for touchdowns and then intercepted another and ran 70 yards for the score.

Roger McCaughin scored the other on a pass from McPherson, his third TD toss of the evening.

He Has Ideal Job

RICHMOND, Va. — For a man who likes to fish, Dr. Jack D. Burke of the University of Richmond has the ideal job. The National Institute of Health has given him $16,000 to continue for three years his study of how much oxygen different types of fish require. He will fish nearly every river, stream, pond and inlet in Virginia. He admits it is fun but says there is a lot of hard work too.

Bar Owner Given Delay

The Chester squire continued Cook's hearing until next Saturday morning at 10. Another scheduled Thursday night also was continued.

Cook's hearing was slated this morning at 10 but he asked the continuance because a woman witness was unable to appear. She was called out of town because of an accident in her family, the squire reported.

Cook was charged with selling non-intoxicating beer to minors under 18 in a warrant obtained by Probation Officer William Paolisso of Hancock County Oct. 17.

Paolisso also charged four other tavern operators with selling non-intoxicating beer to minors. One licensee was acquitted of the charges and four others were fined.

However, two licensees appealed their fines to County Circuit Court. They were Fannie Derifield of Fannie's Tavern on Carolina Ave., in Chester, fined $100 and costs by Squire Allison on Friday, and Carol Z. Mills of Sunset Inn near Chester, who appealed his fine of $200 and costs meted by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

Police Cite 2 Drivers Following Chain Crash

Two motorists were cited as the result of a chain collision of three East Liverpool cars and one from East Palestine Friday night at 7:05 on Route 45 about three and a half miles north of Lisbon.

No one was injured and only slight damage resulted to all four vehicles, according to the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Involved in the crash were Thomas Dixon, 54, of 1932 Lisbon St.; James M. Willison, 31, of 104 E. North Ave., East Palestine; Mary R. Estell, 18, of 7th Ave., LaCroft, and Frank Seevers, 35, of 1648 Globe St.

All were headed north, officers said. Dixon, driving a 1960 sedan, halted for traffic. Willison, also driving a 1960 sedan, halted immediately behind him, officers said, and was then struck in the rear by the girl who was driving a 1956 model car. She in turn was struck in the rear by Seevers who was driving a 1957 vehicle.

Both the girl and Seevers were cited for following too closely, officers said.

Bar Owner Given Delay

Squire W. Eugene Allison this morning granted a second continuance in the hearing for Russell Cook, licensee of Club 66 in Chester, who faces charges of violating West Virginia's state beer law.

The Chester squire continued Cook's hearing until next Saturday morning at 10. Another scheduled Thursday night also was continued.

Cook's hearing was slated this morning at 10 but he asked the continuance because a woman witness was unable to appear. She was called out of town because of an accident in her family, the squire reported.

Cook was charged with selling non-intoxicating beer to minors under 18 in a warrant obtained by Probation Officer William Paolisso of Hancock County Oct. 17.

Paolisso also charged four other tavern operators with selling non-intoxicating beer to minors. One licensee was acquitted of the charges and four others were fined.

However, two licensees appealed their fines to County Circuit Court. They were Fannie Derifield of Fannie's Tavern on Carolina Ave., in Chester, fined $100 and costs by Squire Allison on Friday, and Carol Z. Mills of Sunset Inn near Chester, who appealed his fine of $200 and costs meted by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

Police Cite 2 Drivers Following Chain Crash

Two motorists were cited as the result of a chain collision of three East Liverpool cars and one from East Palestine Friday night at 7:05 on Route 45 about three and a half miles north of Lisbon.

No one was injured and only slight damage resulted to all four vehicles, according to the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Involved in the crash were Thomas Dixon, 54, of 1932 Lisbon St.; James M. Willison, 31, of 104 E. North Ave., East Palestine; Mary R. Estell, 18, of 7th Ave., LaCroft, and Frank Seevers, 35, of 1648 Globe St.

All were headed north, officers said. Dixon, driving a 1960 sedan, halted for traffic. Willison, also driving a 1960 sedan, halted immediately behind him, officers said, and was then struck in the rear by the girl who was driving a 1956 model car. She in turn was struck in the rear by Seevers who was driving a 1957 vehicle.

Both the girl and Seevers were cited for following too closely, officers said.

But Work To Avert Defeat

Both GOP And Democrats 'Staking Claims' To Texas

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Both parties publicly roared victory claims for Texas' 24 electoral votes but worked desperately as if to stave off defeat in the last days of the presidential campaign.

Their immediate objective was an estimated 5 to 15 per cent who can't or won't tell the pollsters how they are going to vote.

The biggest question now as it was early in the campaign is Sen. John F. Kennedy's religion.

The next biggest question is how much Vice President Richard M. Nixon will benefit from the carryover of Dwight D. Eisenhower's political charm that put traditionally-Democratic Texas in the Republican camp in 1952 and 1956.

Closely related to these and half a dozen other turbulent undercurrents battering the state's estimated 2½ million voters is the unusually heavy percentage of those who are silent or undecided.

Most of the recent polls timidly indicated a faint leaning toward Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson in a state where the professional and expert political opinion said the big word was doubt.

Three Associated Press surveys of 24 key counties at two-week intervals consistently turned up one factor: The voter who often truculently and flatly refused to talk about his intentions.

The surveys extending from late September into early November tapped these sources: Local political leaders such as county judges who usually are close to the grass roots: Some country newspaper editors; and on the state level, established campaign publicists or managers and lobbyists who make their living out of the raw material of public opinion.

Both parties have put on the strongest pressure ever exerted in a presidntial race in Texas because of the baffling array of unknowns, such as:

1. Will Johnson's No. 2 place on the ticket help or hurt with the average voter? Johnson has made many friends and many enemies in his long career in public office. There was a division of opinion at home on whether he should have taken the vice-presidential nomination.

2. Will Johnson's double entry as a candidate for re-election to the Senate and for the vice presidency stir up enough resentment to make it a factor? The Republican speakers have made much of it throughout the campaign, especially his active Senate opponent, John G. Tower.

3. Will Texas' non-Catholics listen to some of their preachers or to the politicians? Both Democratic and Republican leaders tell them not to let the fact that Kennedy is a Roman Catholic influence them. Many ministers, spearheaded by militant Baptists, have said or intimated that Kennedy's church loyalty could or might disqualify him for the presidency, in the face of his repeated avowals that it would not.

4. How much effect on normally Democratic voters will former Gov. Allan Shivers' "Democrats for Nixon and Lodge" organization have? How strong is a separate campaign by a group called "Texans for Nixon" led by a prominent Baptist layman, Dallas insurance man Carr P. Collins?

The Republican organization has also been unusually active. It offers the largest number of state office and legislative candidates in history and some of them have a chance to win or make a good showing.

The GOP has welcomed Shivers and Collins. Shivers and Johnson are old political enemies and much of the oratory in the last two weeks has been a renewal of their feud. Shivers was the top Democratic leader who bolted to help Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

5. Will Lodge's statements regarding a Negro in the Cabinet disturb conservatives, who generally are also segregationists, and thereby hurt the Republican cause? Democratic leaders say Lodge can't match Johnson as a vice-presidential candidate, that he doesn't appeal to Texans. They say the fact that his one appearance here was not followed up by a repeat such as Nixon's is a sign of his weakness.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Both Parents Should Enjoy Baby

As a rule, the young mother of the tiny infant greatly enjoys this little person, and the father may envy her as she cuddles and tenderly, gently deals with him. If, however, the baby is bottle - fed then or later, and the father learns to hold and feed this child, he may begin to share the mother's enjoyment of this infant. Perhaps he learns before long to "change" the baby, to undress and dress him, bathe him and tuck him into bed. The earlier the young father gains skills in the physical care of the infant, the better he builds for continued enjoyment of him as he grows older. Besides, this sharing in the baby's care furthers the father's companionship with the mother.

ACCORDINGLY, THIS father shares the enjoyment of the early smiles and babbles of the growing little person; shares in watching the child gradually gain in motor control — in rolling, reaching, exploring objects, creeping, climbing, walking, talking.

Though this young father may not be at home as much as the mother is, this time with the child, however brief, can afford him rich enjoyment of the growing child.

Before the child is two, the father may find ways not only to enjoy the rapid motor development but also the mental development —of using the hands and feet more and more with obvious purpose, of creating with simple toys and objects, also with words.

What fun for the father and mother to see this youngster show early signs of reasoning by what he does, asks or says! How wonderful when he begins imagining and his parents enjoy his flights of fancy and fire his imagination further by reading to him!

WHEN THIS time arrives, there may be no end of enjoyment of the child by both his father and mother, who listen to what he says, answer his questions kindly, explain things to him, satisfy and stimulate his curiosity, go places with him, make things with him and appreciate what he makes.

Also, the young parents can find enjoyment of the tot as he begins to mingle with other tots and to learn to have fun with them.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—Steve Waltz, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waltz, died in a Canton hospital Friday of head injuries suffered when hit by a driverless runaway automobile here. The child was playing in a yard near his home Thursday when the car jumped the curb.

Otto W. Welz, of Rt. 3, New Philadelphia, owner of the car, pleaded guilty in Mayor's Court to a charge of reckless operation and was fined $53.70. He said he parked the car in front of a bakery and set the emergency brake before entering the shop.

But Work To Avert Defeat

Both GOP And Democrats 'Staking Claims' To Texas

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Both parties publicly roared victory claims for Texas' 24 electoral votes but worked desperately as if to stave off defeat in the last days of the presidential campaign.

Their immediate objective was an estimated 5 to 15 per cent who can't or won't tell the pollsters how they are going to vote.

The biggest question now as it was early in the campaign is Sen. John F. Kennedy's religion.

The next biggest question is how much Vice President Richard M. Nixon will benefit from the carryover of Dwight D. Eisenhower's political charm that put traditionally-Democratic Texas in the Republican camp in 1952 and 1956.

Closely related to these and half a dozen other turbulent undercurrents battering the state's estimated 2½ million voters is the unusually heavy percentage of those who are silent or undecided.

Most of the recent polls timidly indicated a faint leaning toward Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson in a state where the professional and expert political opinion said the big word was doubt.

Three Associated Press surveys of 24 key counties at two-week intervals consistently turned up one factor: The voter who often truculently and flatly refused to talk about his intentions.

The surveys extending from late September into early November tapped these sources: Local political leaders such as county judges who usually are close to the grass roots: Some country newspaper editors; and on the state level, established campaign publicists or managers and lobbyists who make their living out of the raw material of public opinion.

Both parties have put on the strongest pressure ever exerted in a presidntial race in Texas because of the baffling array of unknowns, such as:

1. Will Johnson's No. 2 place on the ticket help or hurt with the average voter? Johnson has made many friends and many enemies in his long career in public office. There was a division of opinion at home on whether he should have taken the vice-presidential nomination.

2. Will Johnson's double entry as a candidate for re-election to the Senate and for the vice presidency stir up enough resentment to make it a factor? The Republican speakers have made much of it throughout the campaign, especially his active Senate opponent, John G. Tower.

3. Will Texas' non-Catholics listen to some of their preachers or to the politicians? Both Democratic and Republican leaders tell them not to let the fact that Kennedy is a Roman Catholic influence them. Many ministers, spearheaded by militant Baptists, have said or intimated that Kennedy's church loyalty could or might disqualify him for the presidency, in the face of his repeated avowals that it would not.

4. How much effect on normally Democratic voters will former Gov. Allan Shivers' "Democrats for Nixon and Lodge" organization have? How strong is a separate campaign by a group called "Texans for Nixon" led by a prominent Baptist layman, Dallas insurance man Carr P. Collins?

The Republican organization has also been unusually active. It offers the largest number of state office and legislative candidates in history and some of them have a chance to win or make a good showing.

The GOP has welcomed Shivers and Collins. Shivers and Johnson are old political enemies and much of the oratory in the last two weeks has been a renewal of their feud. Shivers was the top Democratic leader who bolted to help Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

5. Will Lodge's statements regarding a Negro in the Cabinet disturb conservatives, who generally are also segregationists, and thereby hurt the Republican cause? Democratic leaders say Lodge can't match Johnson as a vice-presidential candidate, that he doesn't appeal to Texans. They say the fact that his one appearance here was not followed up by a repeat such as Nixon's is a sign of his weakness.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Both Parents Should Enjoy Baby

As a rule, the young mother of the tiny infant greatly enjoys this little person, and the father may envy her as she cuddles and tenderly, gently deals with him. If, however, the baby is bottle - fed then or later, and the father learns to hold and feed this child, he may begin to share the mother's enjoyment of this infant. Perhaps he learns before long to "change" the baby, to undress and dress him, bathe him and tuck him into bed. The earlier the young father gains skills in the physical care of the infant, the better he builds for continued enjoyment of him as he grows older. Besides, this sharing in the baby's care furthers the father's companionship with the mother.

ACCORDINGLY, THIS father shares the enjoyment of the early smiles and babbles of the growing little person; shares in watching the child gradually gain in motor control — in rolling, reaching, exploring objects, creeping, climbing, walking, talking.

Though this young father may not be at home as much as the mother is, this time with the child, however brief, can afford him rich enjoyment of the growing child.

Before the child is two, the father may find ways not only to enjoy the rapid motor development but also the mental development —of using the hands and feet more and more with obvious purpose, of creating with simple toys and objects, also with words.

What fun for the father and mother to see this youngster show early signs of reasoning by what he does, asks or says! How wonderful when he begins imagining and his parents enjoy his flights of fancy and fire his imagination further by reading to him!

WHEN THIS time arrives, there may be no end of enjoyment of the child by both his father and mother, who listen to what he says, answer his questions kindly, explain things to him, satisfy and stimulate his curiosity, go places with him, make things with him and appreciate what he makes.

Also, the young parents can find enjoyment of the tot as he begins to mingle with other tots and to learn to have fun with them.

My bulletins, "Enjoying Our Children" and "Fathers are Parents, Too," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

2 Employes Robbed Of $2,500 In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two employes of the Rutman Wine Co. were robbed Friday night of $2,500 they were taking to a bank night depository, police reported.

Charles Mainor, 34, and Joseph Oshuns, 35, told police they were entering their car in front of the company office when they were accosted by two gunmen who forced them to lie on the ground. The gunmen took four bags containing the day's receipts of the company, Mainor and Oshuns reported.

BRIGHT CORNERS

626 RILEY AVENUE — $6,300. 6 rooms — 3 bedrooms — gas heat — garage — and large size lots. Only 3 minutes from school.

NORTHSIDE. — We had trouble appraising this home because the replacement cost would be about $50,000.00, and 2 lots like the ones the home is located on cannot be found on North Side. We can't take too much off the value, because it is brick, the floors are hardwood, walls are plastered, and the home has 4 bedrooms and bath on the second floor plus 4 rooms and bath on the first. Very suitable downstairs room for a doctor or other office. Only 1 block from Lincoln School —1 block from the city bus—and the street is paved and still quiet and all residential. Total price $19,500.

On Rt. 170 in a fairly new residential section — a 6 room and bath home, 1 story, 5 year old, lot size 175x280, Calcutta school district. The home is extra well built 3 bedrooms, plus a full diningroom. $15,750.00

On one of the best streets in Maplewood we have a 3 bedroom cottage that is on the market. All hardwood floors, carpeted throughout, full basement, garage, gas furnace, city sewer and water. $15,500 takes the carpet, drapes, and the home.

A small lot but a LOT of HOME is what you'll find at 849 OHIO AVE. for $9000.00. This is an excellent location. 5 rooms and bath and a half, full basement, and a good furnace.

Invest in this one story, 3 bedroom cottage at 711 MORTON STREET, for $8,000. A 75x75 foot lot. New furnace, full basement. Electric range, and the location is convenient. CALL FOR appointments.

BRIGHT CORNERS

626 RILEY AVENUE — $6,300. 6 rooms — 3 bedrooms — gas heat — garage — and large size lots. Only 3 minutes from school.

NORTHSIDE. — We had trouble appraising this home because the replacement cost would be about $50,000.00, and 2 lots like the ones the home is located on cannot be found on North Side. We can't take too much off the value, because it is brick, the floors are hardwood, walls are plastered, and the home has 4 bedrooms and bath on the second floor plus 4 rooms and bath on the first. Very suitable downstairs room for a doctor or other office. Only 1 block from Lincoln School —1 block from the city bus—and the street is paved and still quiet and all residential. Total price $19,500.

On Rt. 170 in a fairly new residential section — a 6 room and bath home, 1 story, 5 year old, lot size 175x280, Calcutta school district. The home is extra well built 3 bedrooms, plus a full diningroom. $15,750.00

On one of the best streets in Maplewood we have a 3 bedroom cottage that is on the market. All hardwood floors, carpeted throughout, full basement, garage, gas furnace, city sewer and water. $15,500 takes the carpet, drapes, and the home.

A small lot but a LOT of HOME is what you'll find at 849 OHIO AVE. for $9000.00. This is an excellent location. 5 rooms and bath and a half, full basement, and a good furnace.

Invest in this one story, 3 bedroom cottage at 711 MORTON STREET, for $8,000. A 75x75 foot lot. New furnace, full basement. Electric range, and the location is convenient. CALL FOR appointments.

Lisbon Women's Guild Makes Quilts And Cancer Bandages

Thirty women of the Guild of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ at Lisbon spent Thursday morning quilting and making cancer bandages.

A coverdish luncheon was held at noon with Mrs. Effie Waddell and Mrs. Earl Girrard hostesses. The tables were decorated with gourds and handmade ceramic figures and bouquets of fall flowers.

Project Is Completed

Business followed with Mrs. Garnet Campbell, vice president, in charge. The 1960 project of buying the church magazine for every members' home was completed.

The offering will go to the Welfare Department's children's fund, the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital and the Back Bay Mission in Mississippi. Cards signed by the entire group were sent to shut-ins.

Mrs. Clifford, president for 1961, announced new officers, chairmen and co-chairmen will meet Wednesday at 1 p. m. at the church.

Mrs. Howard Wilhelm, president, led the program based on "Disciplined Life" and showed a film strip on "Members One of Another."

Mrs. Ernie Tullis had devotions. The group will meet Dec. 1.

Members practiced for the exemplification work to be given at the Steubenville lodge Wednesday night. Those taking part are to attend another practice Monday night at 7.

A silent auction was held.

The committee, Mrs. Teressa Moore, Mrs. Anna Reuff, Mrs. Iva Mentzer and Mrs. Laura Wright, served lunch.

Mrs. Roger Swartz and Mrs. Tony Pezzano, a guest, won prizes at canasta when Mrs. Russell Dixon of E. Washington St. received associates of the ONO club Thursday night. The hostess served lunch.

For the next meeting Dec. 8, the club will eat out and return to the home of Mrs. Swartz of the Fairfield Rd. for a Christmas party and gift exchange.

QOW Club Meets

The QOW club was entertained Thursday night by Mrs. William Hiscox of E. Lincoln Way.

Prizes at 500 went to Mrs. William Welsh. Lunch was served by the hostess.

High Schools Of County Set College Night

LISBON — The first all - county College Night for junior and seniors in the four county high schools — United Local, Southern Local, Fairfield-Waterford Local and Beaver Local — will be held Nov. 15 at 7:30 p. m. at Beaver Local School.

This is the first year for the four schools joining a college session. Previously each school held its own college day.

This new setup means less interruptions and it is felt that the college representatives would prefer to come to the county once instead of the four times, sponsors said.

The meeting is open to all juniors and seniors, even those not sure of going to college. Those who expect to attend college but haven't made a choice will have an opportunity to consult with three different college or university representatives, if desired.

Representatives from Kent State, Ohio State, Mt. Union, Youngstown University, Westminister, Geneva and Findlay, Malone College of Canton and Steubenville College have accepted invitations. The Youngstown Hospital School of Nursing will also be represented.

The committee arranging the affair consists of Franklin Sturgeon of Beaver Local, Joe Marra of United Local, David Habeger of Fairfield-Waterford Local, Tom Leek of Southern Local, Mrs. Marilyn Solak, high school consultant, and Supt. James L. McBride.

The longest time on record that a person has gone without food was set by a German, Willy Schmitz, who fasted for 58 days in a glass cage at the Frankfurt zoo in 1950. He subsisted on soda water and cigarette smoke and lost more than 70 pounds.

Do you think the services received warrants these huge increases in spending?

The County Prosecutor's expenditures under the Republicans from 1952 thru 1959 has increased from $14,512.18 in 1952 to $24,123.36 in 1959. Do you think the snail's pace of prosecution of indicted persons warrants this large outlay of public funds?

19 Million Americans Can't Vote!

I Finally Had to Diet!
BY KATE SMITH

Does a Teen-Age Marriage Work?

19,000,000 AMERICANS CAN'T VOTE!

By BRENDAN BYRNE

Executive Director, American Heritage Foundation

as told to Theodore Irwin

On election day this week, one out of every six eligible citizens will be disqualified through no fault of his own; the reasons add up to a national disgrace

IN TUESDAY'S Presidential election both candidates agree the results will be close. Every vote will be important. Yet the next President may be chosen not by those who cast their ballots but by the citizens who cannot vote.

A nationwide study by the American Heritage Foundation indicates that an estimated 19 million Americans of voting age will be disfranchised this year, generally through no fault of their own. Thus, out of more than 100 million eligible citizens, almost one out of six will be shamefully deprived of the voting privilege.

The 19 million missing at the polls this week will be penalized by outmoded regulations and unreasonable legal barriers which either rob them completely of a ballot or manage to discourage them so that voting seems too much of an effort!

The largest group of Americans affected are the 8 million who it is predicted will move with their families across state, county, or precinct lines during the year. Our population has grown more and more mobile, shifting from farm to city, from city to suburb, often from one state to another. Factories and mills move with their employees. Workers today travel wherever their specialized training happens to be needed.

Ignoring this trend, 35 states still require a full year's residence for anyone who wants to declare his choice for President. Three states (Alabama, South Carolina, and Mississippi) demand two years' residence. In some states, such as New York, if you move up the street to another house in the same precinct and district, you lose your vote unless you can prove you have lived at your new address for at least 30 days.

Then there are the 2,600,000 people—businessmen, traveling salesmen, actors, railroad men, bus and truck drivers, among others—who have to be away from their home districts on election day. Under their state laws, they have no feasible way of casting their ballots.

Another 5 million are qualified citizens who are kept home or in hospitals by illness, are physically disabled, or are elderly persons living in nursing homes. Too many states like New Mexico make no provision for enabling them to vote by mail.

In the District of Columbia, 600,000 citizens can't vote because they have no legal residence elsewhere and are not entitled to absentee ballots. Although they pay taxes and can be drafted for military service, these forgotten people have no representation.

Sundry obstacles block the path to the voting booth for many other Americans. Twenty-one states have no laws permitting employees time off from work to vote. Annual registration in some states places an undue hardship on certain potential voters, particularly in rural areas; only 10 states have full, permanent personal registration.

Many of the half-million U.S. citizens living abroad find it hard to obtain an absentee ballot. Five states still do not provide for absentee mail balloting by civilians.

In the face of all the gaps in our balloting procedures, 36 states have made some kind of change since our last Presidential election. But we still have far to go before every citizen of voting age can cast a ballot if he wishes.

To strengthen our representative form of government, the American Heritage Foundation supports these recommendations by leading political scientists and election specialists:

1. Reduce state residence requirements to six months and the county minimum to 30 days.

2. Make available absentee registration and voting by mail to all voting-age citizens who will be away from the state or county on election day.

3. Extend absentee voting privileges to the sick and hospitalized.

4. Give the franchise to those who live in the District of Columbia.

5. Provide central registration facilities throughout the year, closing them about six weeks before election day.

6. Adequate, trained personnel must staff all polling places.

7. We should have a state-wide uniform system of permanent personal tax-free registration.

8. Facilities should be provided for mobile registration in public places, a practice effectively followed in Philadelphia.

9. Literacy tests should be simple and objective, evaluated according to an answer key provided by educators.

States that make it easier for their citizens to vote get more of them to the polls. Inevitably, people who want to vote but are disqualified lose interest in their government because they feel they have nothing to do with how it's run. Our democracy ends up being the loser!

Let's get out this vote, too!

19,000,000 AMERICANS CAN'T VOTE!

By BRENDAN BYRNE

Executive Director, American Heritage Foundation

as told to Theodore Irwin

On election day this week, one out of every six eligible citizens will be disqualified through no fault of his own; the reasons add up to a national disgrace

IN TUESDAY'S Presidential election both candidates agree the results will be close. Every vote will be important. Yet the next President may be chosen not by those who cast their ballots but by the citizens who cannot vote.

A nationwide study by the American Heritage Foundation indicates that an estimated 19 million Americans of voting age will be disfranchised this year, generally through no fault of their own. Thus, out of more than 100 million eligible citizens, almost one out of six will be shamefully deprived of the voting privilege.

The 19 million missing at the polls this week will be penalized by outmoded regulations and unreasonable legal barriers which either rob them completely of a ballot or manage to discourage them so that voting seems too much of an effort!

The largest group of Americans affected are the 8 million who it is predicted will move with their families across state, county, or precinct lines during the year. Our population has grown more and more mobile, shifting from farm to city, from city to suburb, often from one state to another. Factories and mills move with their employees. Workers today travel wherever their specialized training happens to be needed.

Ignoring this trend, 35 states still require a full year's residence for anyone who wants to declare his choice for President. Three states (Alabama, South Carolina, and Mississippi) demand two years' residence. In some states, such as New York, if you move up the street to another house in the same precinct and district, you lose your vote unless you can prove you have lived at your new address for at least 30 days.

Then there are the 2,600,000 people—businessmen, traveling salesmen, actors, railroad men, bus and truck drivers, among others—who have to be away from their home districts on election day. Under their state laws, they have no feasible way of casting their ballots.

Another 5 million are qualified citizens who are kept home or in hospitals by illness, are physically disabled, or are elderly persons living in nursing homes. Too many states like New Mexico make no provision for enabling them to vote by mail.

In the District of Columbia, 600,000 citizens can't vote because they have no legal residence elsewhere and are not entitled to absentee ballots. Although they pay taxes and can be drafted for military service, these forgotten people have no representation.

Sundry obstacles block the path to the voting booth for many other Americans. Twenty-one states have no laws permitting employees time off from work to vote. Annual registration in some states places an undue hardship on certain potential voters, particularly in rural areas; only 10 states have full, permanent personal registration.

Many of the half-million U.S. citizens living abroad find it hard to obtain an absentee ballot. Five states still do not provide for absentee mail balloting by civilians.

In the face of all the gaps in our balloting procedures, 36 states have made some kind of change since our last Presidential election. But we still have far to go before every citizen of voting age can cast a ballot if he wishes.

To strengthen our representative form of government, the American Heritage Foundation supports these recommendations by leading political scientists and election specialists:

1. Reduce state residence requirements to six months and the county minimum to 30 days.

2. Make available absentee registration and voting by mail to all voting-age citizens who will be away from the state or county on election day.

3. Extend absentee voting privileges to the sick and hospitalized.

4. Give the franchise to those who live in the District of Columbia.

5. Provide central registration facilities throughout the year, closing them about six weeks before election day.

6. Adequate, trained personnel must staff all polling places.

7. We should have a state-wide uniform system of permanent personal tax-free registration.

8. Facilities should be provided for mobile registration in public places, a practice effectively followed in Philadelphia.

9. Literacy tests should be simple and objective, evaluated according to an answer key provided by educators.

I Finally Had to Diet!

For years, fans, doctors, and friends urged her to lose weight, but it took near-tragedy to make her listen—and then, characteristically, it was for somebody else's sake

By KATE SMITH
as told to Gladys Hall

IN THE PAST four years, I have slowly but steadily lost 85 pounds. Slowly but steadily I intend to continue to lose weight until I tip the scales at 155 or, at most, 160 pounds. In terms of health and appearance, that's approximately what a woman of my age (49) and height (5 feet, 10½ inches) should weigh.

I was 17 when I began to put on weight. At 18, I weighed 165 pounds. As years went by, I didn't get any thinner. To begin with, I've always had a sweet tooth. I come from a sweet-toothed family, and plenty of rich desserts were daily fare back home in Greenville, Va. And as I bake very well, rich desserts continued to be part of every meal after I left home. Though I ate only two meals a day, I had frequent rich "snacks."

Why, as the years went by and the weight went on, didn't I take myself in hand and diet as I am doing now?

Once in a while I did diet in a halfhearted sort of way, but after a couple of chocolate-less weeks and the loss of five or six pounds, I'd say: "The heck with it!" I'd gain back the lost pounds and let it go at that.

I didn't make any sustained effort to lose weight for the simple reason that overweight never hindered me from doing anything I wanted to do. I've always been agile, active, and athletic. I play tennis. I play golf. I sail. I swim. I water ski. I dance. I was never short of friends. Or of dates. Or of engagements in radio or some other entertainment medium. My health has always been robust. I didn't know then, as I do now, that stout people tend to fall into one of two categories: either they are lethargic or they are supercharged with energy due to high blood pressure. I belonged in the second category.

Nor did vanity prod me into counting my calories. I never looked at a stem-slim young woman enviously. I have never been a vain person. When I look in a mirror, I see only two things that please me—my complexion and my teeth.

My eyes are weak. I'm terribly nearsighted. I've worn glasses since I was four. On TV, I use contact lenses. If I didn't, my guest stars would appear to me as shapeless blurs. And always, when I look in a mirror, I see the double chin and think: why do I have to be stuck with that?

Aware as I am of my shortcomings, overweight was one that I simply chose—subconsciously, perhaps—to overlook. I went right on with my compulsive eating—so compulsive that even when my blood pressure was so high that I had to give up my daily TV program I didn't give up calorie-laden sweets. Nor did I abstain after I had a bad gall-bladder attack and faced possible surgery. "Too much weight," I was warned, "makes you a poor operative risk." The warning fell on deaf ears.

And then, four years ago, I had a terrifying scare —and that did it.

As those familiar with my career know, Ted Collins has been my manager and producer, my "alter ego," ever since he launched me in radio on May 1, 1931—which was, coincidentally, my 20th birthday. Last May 1, we joyfully celebrated my 49th birthday and our 29th anniversary as a successful manager-star team.

During all these years, Ted has guided me so successfully that I am now incapable of facing an audience or a microphone unless he is there—in the theater, in the TV studio, or wherever I am singing—to give me confidence. Nor would Ted, in spite of many opportunities, produce any show of which I am not a part. In addition to being in complete control of my career, down to the last detail, Ted is also my confidant. I go to him with all my personal problems.

Kate Smith reviews a script with her long-time friend and manager, Ted Collins. The setting is Lake Placid.

There had been 25 years of this close-knit association when, four years ago, Ted had a heart attack so serious his doctors said: "Three days survival time is the most we can hope for."

"Three days survival time."

WITH THESE WORDS haunting me, I went straight from the hospital to church and there, on my knees, I asked God to spare Ted's life. "What can I do?" I asked Him. "What can I sacrifice?" Unbidden then, came the memory of the one and only time Ted had ever referred to my overweight. After my gall-bladder attack, he said: "For your health's sake, Kathryn, please diet as your doctors advise you to do."

I hadn't done what he asked. But now . . . "If You will make him well again," I prayed, "I will do what is the hardest thing in the world for me to do—give up everything I like to eat."

For 38 days Ted was in an oxygen tent and I was on my knees. I cancelled all engagements. I couldn't, for the life of me, have raised my voice in song.

On the 39th day, his doctors announced: "He's going to make it."

When Ted learned why I was at last dieting in earnest, he said: "God traded me for a frosted chocolate!"

Perhaps He did. I only know that Ted's life was spared and that I was given the strength to do something I had never before been able to do. And from that time, I have kept on doing it.

For the past four years, I have limited myself to 1,000 calories a day. Since I never go to bed before 1:30 or 2 a.m., I continue to have two meals a day—breakfast at 11 or 11:30, dinner at 6 or 6:30—as I've been doing for so long. But now there are

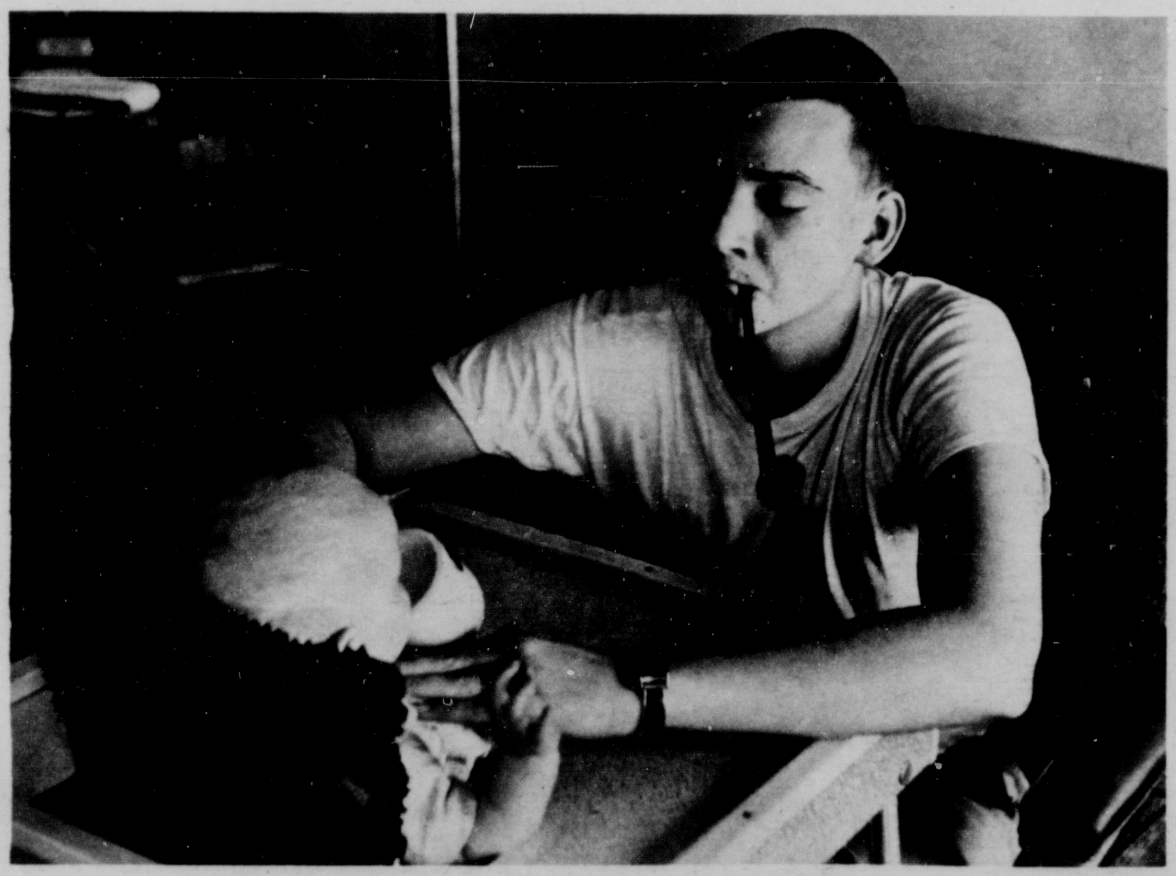
Jim and Carolyn Landess share a rare quiet moment.

DOES A TEEN-AGE MARRIAGE WORK ?

For each other, Jim and Carolyn Landess have given up the hopes and pleasures of youth; theirs will be a rare story only if their happiness continues to outweigh their disappointments

By JOHN HOCHMANN



Teeth clenched over his pipe, Jim teaches Lisa Mae to drink from cup instead of bottle.

AT FIRST SIGHT Jim and Carolyn Landess seem too old to play "house." In their Fort Wayne, Ind., apartment, 20-year-old Jim, in T-shirt and cotton pants, lounges over an accounting textbook, sucking at a pipe that does not quite fit a face still showing some of the traces of adolescence.

Meanwhile, Carolyn finishes the supper dishes with the gawky, deliberate motions of a 16-year-old; she still wears the sneakers and socks she put on that morning to go to school.

But Jim and Carolyn are not playing. This becomes clear when 8-month-old Lisa Mae awakens in the baby carriage which doubles as her crib, crying for her bottle.

Jim and Carolyn Landess are not unusual in their age group. Early dating, going steady, more spending money, the idealization of marriage by TV and motion pictures, the unsettled world situation, in some cases the desire to avoid military service, all have resulted in a rising number of teen-age marriages.

Many teen-agers undoubtedly marry to escape adolescent responsibilities, and it is the shock of marriage's even heavier burdens that often wrecks these unions. Yet Jim and Carolyn have assumed their obligations willingly, and in the opinion of Central High School's dean of girls, theirs is the only marriage in the school likely to last.

Jim and Carolyn first met when she was 10. Jim was the newspaper delivery boy, and he ignored the crush Carolyn had on him. But when she was 13, Jim took another look and they began dating. Jim was a shy boy,

Many teen-agers undoubtedly marry to escape adolescent responsibilities, and it is the shock of marriage's even heavier burdens that often wrecks these unions. Yet Jim and Carolyn have assumed their obligations willingly, and in the opinion of Central High School's dean of girls, theirs is the only marriage in the school likely to last.

Jim and Carolyn first met when she was 10. Jim was the newspaper delivery boy, and he ignored the crush Carolyn had on him. But when she was 13, Jim took another look and they began dating. Jim was a shy boy, and Carolyn says he wouldn't kiss her until they had been going steady for a week.

Jim takes a break from stock-clerk job to ponder future while Carolyn arrives late for school.

They were married when Carolyn was 15 and Jim was in his senior year. Since Lisa Mae was born, Carolyn attends classes three hours a day, and though her grades dropped while she and Jim were dating (she had been an "A" student), they have gone up again since the marriage.

Jim completed high school after marriage, and now he studies accounting at night at Fort Wayne Commercial College while keeping a full-time job as a stock clerk.

THEIR DAY begins at 6:30 when Carolyn gets up, feeds Lisa Mae, and prepares Jim's breakfast. Jim eats while Carolyn fixes his lunch, then leaves for work. Carolyn then does the dishes, makes the bed, and takes care of the baby. Her mother comes in at 8, and Carolyn hurries off to school.

After school, Carolyn prepares dinner, and after dinner Jim rushes off to night school while Carolyn does dishes and homework. Jim gets home at 9:30, does his own homework, and reads the paper. They watch TV for a while and go to bed. Lisa Mae can have no idea how tired her parents are when she wakes up crying; once after staying up with her nearly all night, Carolyn fell asleep on the bus and passed her stop.

Jim pays the bills and gives Carolyn $20 a week for food, $2 for bus fares, and $1 for church. They pay $10 a week to rent their three-room apartment. Sometimes they go to a drive-in movie, occasionally to a dance, while a grandparent baby-sits. On weekends they do homework together. Once in a while Jim goes off with his friends for a day of fishing while Carolyn reads and works crossword puzzles.

How has a teen-age marriage changed their lives? Carolyn had planned to go to college for scientific training. Jim had planned to join the Army and make the service a career. Though Carolyn's mother was heartbroken at the marriage at first, the two are now reconciled. Carolyn herself, who seems the more mature partner in the marriage, has no regrets—except perhaps having to give up baton twirling for Central High because married students are forbidden to participate in extracurricular activities. "I cried," she recalls, "at the first game I wasn't allowed to twirl."

Jim says he loves Carolyn and the baby, but adds: "If I had to do it all over again, I wouldn't get married at such an early age." He accepts the burdens of marriage, but sometimes resents them.

When old unmarried friends get out of school, Carolyn stops chores to watch them pass by house.

I was just thinking...

IF YOU TAKE my hand, I will feel the warmth of your own. Perhaps, then, there will be an awareness of the meaning in our hearts or minds.

But you cannot reach me and I cannot reach you.

It is dusk now and the cold, gray loneliness rests across the land and touches the lights of the town.

It is possible that there is something more important than birth, something more meaningful than death. It is conceivable that it could be more powerful than the touch of hands, more encompassing than this house set on its hillside in the twilight.

It is neither the moon nor the little moon, neither the atom nor its disintegration. It is the moment's parting of the curtain, the instant in which the universe is revealed.

Out of the awkward girl who trudged across the ancient campus of a school in Tennessee there has come this woman who is myself, no longer a schoolgirl except in mind's eye, and far evolved into a distant world.

Had I known my own future, would I have been content? Could I have accepted what I have now chosen? I think not. How wonderful that man is not granted the right to foresee his own future. How wonderful that understanding of his need comes only with the living of life, not with its prediction.

Perhaps this is what I try to say when I attempt to reach your hand. Living is always a little lonely, making the joy of sharing the small things more precious.

And sometimes the living of life parts the curtain to reveal an awareness impossible of sharing. If you fail to comprehend this hour's recognition in me, there will be another time and another place when you will know and I will fail to understand.

Night falls here. I was born long ago. God willing, it will be long before I die. There is great joy and blessed perception in between.

The Truth About CBR* WARFARE

Man has learned how to kill millions with germs, gases, invisible rays; now he must find a way to insure that these awesome weapons will never be used

By NORMAN COUSINS

In the belief that there is no strength in secrecy, the editors of Family Weekly present this provocative article as a public service. U. S. military defense officials agree that the American people are entitled to know the facts about CBR, one of the most important developments in modern warfare, and they urge the fullest possible discussion of the subject.

The author, Norman Cousins, has been recognized as a leading analyst of the problems of the atomic age. Editor of the "Saturday Review" and co-chairman of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, Cousins is author of several books, including "In God We Trust," "A Treasury of American Democracy," and "Dr. Schweitzer of Lambarene." His latest book, "In Place of Folly," to be published by Harper & Brothers, deals with the subject covered by this article.

AS THE CROWD watched, the scientist placed a droplet of liquid in the rabbit's eye. The animal twitched, shuddered, and rolled over on its side. Seventy seconds later it was dead.

A gas was pumped into a black dog's glass cage. The dog was instantly paralyzed.

Five goats, tethered on a barren hillside, were fired on from a distance of two miles by six howitzers. Minutes after the gas-filled projectiles exploded, all but one of the animals were dead.

These incidents were part of a demonstration conducted in late August by the Army Chemical Corps at the Dugway Proving Ground in Utah. The demonstration, to which only a carefully screened group of observers was invited, marked the unveiling of the Army's newest techniques in chemical, bacteriological, and radiological warfare —or CBR, as it is more familiarly known.

The exhibits all involved animals. The weapons, however, were designed for use on men.

These weapons, now being manufactured and held in readiness by the major world powers (including the United States), promise unprecedented horrors should they ever be used. For CBR techniques are by their nature nonselective; they are specifically designed to kill or injure large numbers of people at once. For example:

—Using chemicals, an enemy could spray many square miles with droplets that cause death within 15 minutes. Or he could produce temporary blindness or deafness, general paralysis, or personality changes such as confusion or cowardice.

—Using biological organisms, an enemy could spread diseases over an entire population. Commenting not long ago on this aspect of CBR warfare, LeRoy D. Fothergill, special adviser to the U.S. Army Biological Laboratory, declared: "The infection of an entire continent by biological clouds is possible under proper conditions."

—Using radiological weapons, an enemy could bombard populations with radiation of various types and doses, depending on the effect desired.

Because these effects, like the effects of nuclear weapons, would not be confined to those nations that happened to be at war with each other, CBR weapons raise an urgent question about the permissible limits of warfare in the modern world.

To many people, this question seems an academic one, and therefore unimportant. CBR weapons, these people say, are so horrible that no country would dare use them. Even though various nations are manufacturing them, the argument runs, they would use them only as a retaliatory threat.

This view has solid historical support. In 1899 at The Hague, many nations, including France and Germany, signed a treaty banning the use of projectiles filled with poison gas. During World War I, however, various kinds of gases were used by France, Germany, Britain, and the United States. By the end of the war, public revulsion against the terrors of gas was running so high that an attempt was made at Washington in 1921 to ban the use of it in warfare. The attempt failed.

In 1925, however, a number of leading nations signed a treaty at Geneva under which both poison gas and bacteriological weapons were outlawed. (Among the signers were Great Britain, France, and the U.S.S.R.; among the nonsigners, the United States and Japan.) In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared that under no circumstances would the United States be the first nation to use poison gas or other chemical weapons. During World War II, all the contending nations had poison gases available, but they did not use them.

This brief history of the use of poison gases, indicating clearly that an increasing measure of restraint has come into being, has led to a widespread belief that CBR weapons would unquestionably be proscribed in any future conflict. Public opinion, gathering strength over the years, appears to have created significant obstacles to their use.

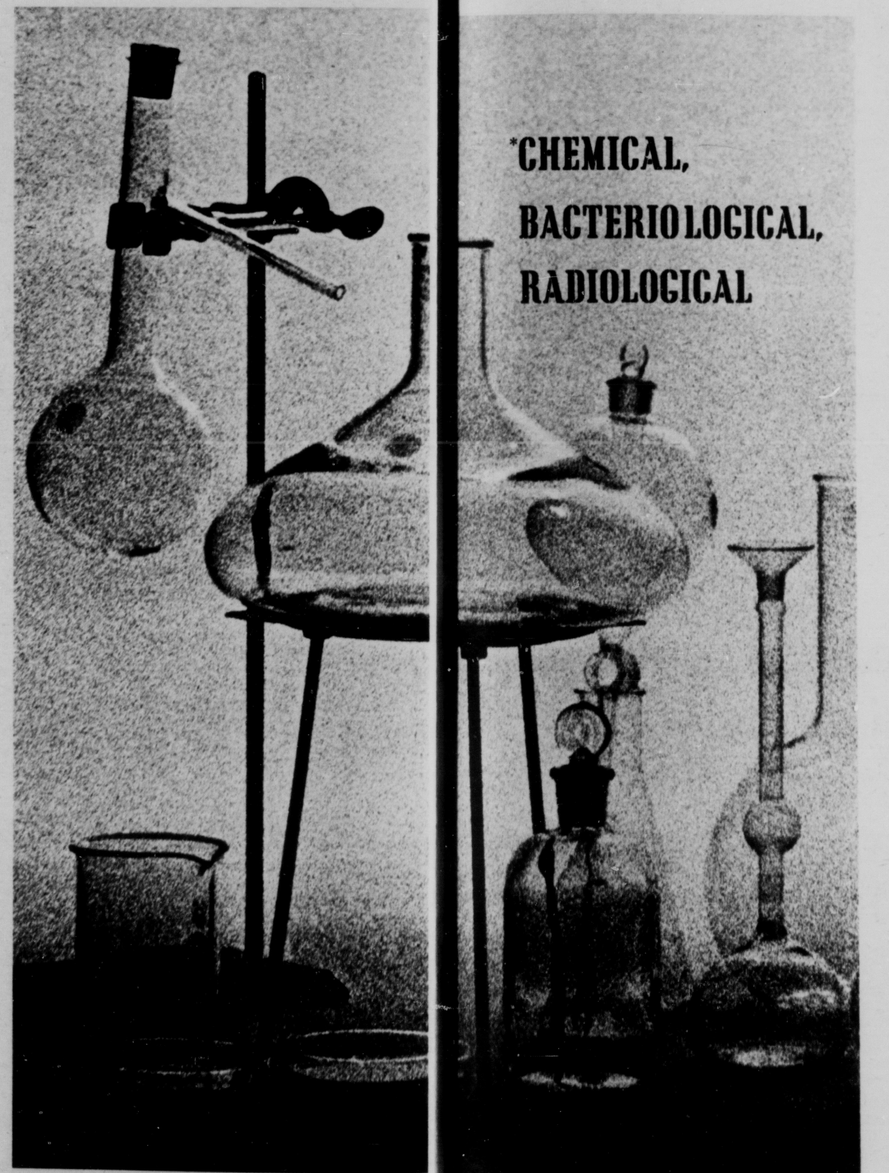
On the other hand, the existence of this restraint has been sharply criticized by U.S. military officials in recent testimony before Congressional committees. They have called for recognition, by both legislators and the public, that the nation needs to be free of any prohibitions on the use of CBR weapons. In short, American military leaders have taken an official position in favor of their use.

THEIR ARGUMENT is that deadly gases, germs, and radiation represent the most effective, the cheapest, and—in their own words—the most "humane" form of warfare available in the modern world. Compared to the cataclysmic effects of nuclear warfare, they say, CBR offers an almost kindly way of waging war.

Furthermore, the advocates of CBR argue, the great advantage of these weapons is that they attack people without destroying great cities and industrial establishments. Essentially, then, the case for CBR warfare rests on a simple proposition: CBR is less fiendish and therefore less reprehensible than nuclear warfare.

To understand the basis for this proposition, it is necessary to look more closely at what chemical, biological, and radiological weapons can do.

Modern chemical warfare falls into two main categories. In the first category are chemicals that act on the human nervous system. When these agents are breathed into the lungs, they pass into the blood stream, where they interfere with the oxygen supply and thereby injure the central nervous system.



PHOTOGRAPH BY RAYMOND JACOBS

The most revolutionary development of this type has the U.S. code name of "GB." This nerve gas is odorless and invisible. It is easy to disseminate. It can be delivered by short-range, medium-range, or long-range missiles. It can be spread over wide areas or used in limited situations by aerosol sprays. It can even be used in tiny dispensers of the kind that carry household deodorizers.

GB, now being manufactured by the U.S. Army Chemical Corps and, so far as is known, by other major powers, acts like a superinsecticide against humans. Like DDT, its effect is widespread and almost instantaneous. A droplet the size of a pencil dot on the skin will kill a man within 15 minutes.

AMERICAN MILITARY officials, testifying before a Congressional committee last year, brought out that shelters, no matter how deep, could offer no protection against a gas of this type because no ventilating system has yet been devised that can filter out GB. Under an attack by GB, a shelter would become a deathtrap.

The second category of chemical warfare includes the psychochemicals. Developed since 1955, these chemicals are not lethal except in large quantities. Instead, their purpose is to change the human personality and eliminate the will to resist or the capacity to think logically and purposefully. Men exposed to certain of the psychochemicals become cringing, confused, and fawning specimens. In one experiment, a cat in a cage with a mouse was given a small injection of a psychochemical. The cat fled from the mouse in terror.

Biological warfare, or the deliberate use of manufactured microorganisms for war purposes, can produce virulent disease strains which overcome the usual degree of natural or acquired immunity in human beings. Other valued characteristics include high infection potential, fast reproduction, and slow rate of natural decay.

The use of bacteriological weapons need not be confined to direct use on humans. Indirectly, human beings can be attacked by transmitting disease to animals and plants, thus contaminating the food supply.

In seeking funds from Congress, CBR proponents have expressed confidence that bacteriological weapons can take their place alongside nerve gases as cheaper and more effective devices against human life than nuclear weapons.

The final element of CBR is radiological warfare. Whenever a nuclear explosion seeks its principal effect through radiation rather than through blast or heat, it falls in the category of a radiological weapon. Thus, the inclusion of a layer of cobalt in a nuclear bomb could create a radiation hazard far beyond even that of strontium 90.

Latest research in radiological warfare has been directed toward the development of a neutron bomb that could be used to attack large industrial centers or cities, killing off the population but leaving the machinery and buildings intact. Research also has been directed toward the creation of tactical radiological weapons for use in limited-war situations. By laying down a barrage of radioactive isotopes with fast-decay characteristics, it would be possible, for example, to keep enemy troops from using an important mountain pass for a predetermined length of time. Other isotopes could be tailored to fit other specific military needs.

If these are the effects of CBR weapons, it seems reasonable to grant that they are, in one sense, more "humane" than nuclear arms. A hydrogen bomb can incinerate several million persons at one time, deform and disfigure millions more, and make a shambles of entire cities. Nothing in the history of human horror can compare with it.

But the fact that thermonuclear warfare is more calamitous than CBR warfare is not a moral argument in favor of the latter. It doesn't make bombs and poison gas humane forms of warfare.

Once the position is taken, however, that it is proper to fight a war with nuclear weapons, the case against CBR collapses. What is important is to make a case against both. For nuclear weapons combine the worst features of chemical and biological warfare with the worst features of war by TNT. Nuclear bombs cause disease—leukemia, aplastic anemia, and other forms of cancer. They also leave an indelible stain on future generations through chromosome poisoning. Therefore, any argument against CBR warfare also applies to thermonuclear warfare and vice versa.

THE EXISTENCE of nuclear and CBR weapons should produce not merely a revulsion but also a determination to mobilize all our energies against war. It will be academic whether a man is dying of encephalitis produced by a bilological weapon or aplastic anemia produced by nuclear radiation.

That there can be a debate over the relative horors of thermonuclear war and CBR war is a painful commentary on the human situation in our time. The real question is not whether the hydrogen bomb is more or less ghastly than a nerve gas, but whether mankind, before it is too late, can prevent a war in which either or both may be used.

As the public debate over CBR proceeds, another fact of mountainous importance is bound to emerge. For the first time in history, nations are preparing for a war which neither side can win. The next war will result in mutual suicide.

This being the case, it would seem clear that every nation ought to be mobilizing its energy, its wisdom, and its conscience to achieve peace—peace with freedom and justice. Certainly, not until all peoples put at least as much thrust into the struggle for peace as they have into the new techniques of war can they satisfy their responsibility to themselves and to the future of mankind.

Our first report is from the village of East Madham, and, with all the votes in, it's Kennedy 7, Nixon 5! This means a lot—a gain for the Democrats over 1956 when East Madham gave Stevenson 6, Eisenhower 5! However, this may be explained by the town's increase in population . . . Yes? Oh, fine. Come in, John Ashton!"

"This is John Ashton, and it's official! Nixon has carried Groatley's 13th district with 34 votes to Kennedy's 28. If projected nationally, this would indicate a big Republican upsurge! Now back to central control!"

"Thanks, John Ashton, for that startling news! Folks, Elmer Gisby, Democrat, is leading his Republican rival for the mayor's race in Bridgeville by 30 votes—and that's with about 4 percent of the votes in! Come in, Mack Lawson!"

"Lawson speaking! Juniper County has gone Republican, thus keeping its record inviolate since 1832. This would seem to indicate that . . ."

"Control speaking! Sorry to interrupt, Mack, but the picture here is just beginning to emerge. New York State polls are closing, we hear, and in three hours we'll be getting scattered returns from California. So stick with us and hear . . . What's that? Okay! We switch you to Bill Hanson now!"

ACCORDING TO some authorities, people eat compulsively to allay anxiety or to soothe some deep frustration—to fill their need, in short, for emotional comfort.

But I have no such need—or excuse—and haven't had for 29 richly rewarding years. I'm never lonely, goodness knows! My mother divides her time between me and my married sister, who lives with her husband and two daughters in Connecticut. I have my faithful maid, Hattie Fulbright, who has been coming to me daily for 20 years through rain, snow, and sleet. I have another faithful friend, Ann Hallinan, who has been with me for 12 years and, in the capacity of housekeeper, is my right arm.

I have my two homes—my 4½-room apartment in New York and my summer place, which consists of five houses, on the shores of Lake Placid. Ted has a place next to mine, and during part of the summer Ted's grandchildren are with him and my nieces are with me at the lake, and the days aren't long enough for all the activities.

Above all, I love to sing. Of the songs I sing, "God Bless America" and "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain" are two most dear and familiar favorites. But I love to sing love songs, too—such as the throbby one, "Tenderly."

I am happy. I love my life. All I pray for now is continuing good health and the chance to bring happiness to others less fortunate.

I believe that our prayers are answered. I know mine have been.

That boldly announced: "Three Books."

I Think I'll Tune In a Little Later

"And now the 1960 election results! And this station is going to be with you until this thrilling national election is decided! Our first report is from the village of East Madham, and, with all the votes in, it's Kennedy 7, Nixon 5! This means a lot—a gain for the Democrats over 1956 when East Madham gave Stevenson 6, Eisenhower 5! However, this may be explained by the town's increase in population . . . Yes? Oh, fine. Come in, John Ashton!"

"This is John Ashton, and it's official! Nixon has carried Groatley's 13th district with 34 votes to Kennedy's 28. If projected nationally, this would indicate a big Republican upsurge! Now back to central control!"

"Thanks, John Ashton, for that startling news! Folks, Elmer Gisby, Democrat, is leading his Republican rival for the mayor's race in Bridgeville by 30 votes—and that's with about 4 percent of the votes in! Come in, Mack Lawson!"

"Lawson speaking! Juniper County has gone Republican, thus keeping its record inviolate since 1832. This would seem to indicate that . . ."

"Control speaking! Sorry to interrupt, Mack, but the picture here is just beginning to emerge. New York State polls are closing, we hear, and in three hours we'll be getting scattered returns from California. So stick with us and hear . . . What's that? Okay! We switch you to Bill Hanson now!"

"Hanson reporting. Jarvis has just conceded to Donovan for town clerk in Puddlersville. This could mean . . ."

—Parke Cummings

A visitor in the back areas of New England stopped at an antique shop and was amazed at the collection of snuffboxes. "I've never seen so many snuffboxes," he said.

"Yes," the proprietor replied, "they were handed down to me from my grandmother."

"Oh, your grandmother took snuff?" the visitor asked.

"No, just snuffboxes."

The Family Dines Out

I finished my meal relaxed and calm,
A feeling new to me and strange;
For the worst-behaved kids at the restaurant
Were somebody else's—for a change.

The housewife sat opposite her husband at breakfast. She was silent and half asleep, her hair in curlers, her face swathed in cold cream, and her housecoat pulled loosely around her. From outdoors, there came the racket of the garbage collector.

The noise galvanized her to action. She grabbed a bag of garbage and ran out to catch the collector. "Am I too late for the garbage?" she called.

The collector turned around, looked at her, and replied: "No, just jump right in."

bladder is behaving itself, I'm never tired, and when I find that I take a size-smaller dress than I did the time before, my elation is such that I wonder why I didn't "get with it" long ago.

ACCORDING TO some authorities, people eat compulsively to allay anxiety or to soothe some deep frustration—to fill their need, in short, for emotional comfort.

But I have no such need—or excuse—and haven't had for 29 richly rewarding years. I'm never lonely, goodness knows! My mother divides her time between me and my married sister, who lives with her husband and two daughters in Connecticut. I have my faithful maid, Hattie Fulbright, who has been coming to me daily for 20 years through rain, snow, and sleet. I have another faithful friend, Ann Hallinan, who has been with me for 12 years and, in the capacity of housekeeper, is my right arm.

I have my two homes—my 4½-room apartment in New York and my summer place, which consists of five houses, on the shores of Lake Placid. Ted has a place next to mine, and during part of the summer Ted's grandchildren are with him and my nieces are with me at the lake, and the days aren't long enough for all the activities.

Above all, I love to sing. Of the songs I sing, "God Bless America" and "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain" are two most dear and familiar favorites. But I love to sing love songs, too—such as the throbby one, "Tenderly."

WOMEN PAST 35 MAY LOOK OLD & TIRED

From Bladder "Weakness" With Secondary Backache and Nerve Tension

Are you one of the hundreds of thousands of sufferers who feel old, tired, worn out and depressed by losing sleep and worrying about getting up nights, due to common irritation of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages? Does this condition cause frequent, urgent and painful daytime urination and sometimes result in Backache? If so, you owe it to yourself to try New Improved Cystex at once.

OTHER SYMPTOMS

Common Kidney and Bladder Irritations which cause getting up nights may also cause strong, cloudy urine and sometimes result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervous Tension.

OLD, TIRED, WORN OUT FEELING MAY RESULT

If frequent urination worries you, and hits you at the most embarrassing moments, you're bound to feel tense and nervous. Then if your sleep is disturbed by getting up nights and you can't get much rest and you wake up feeling tired and groggy—yes, you really begin to feel old. And if your back aches you feel grouchy—hard to get along with—and your work is a burden.

CAUSE OF IRRITATION

The cause of common Kidney and Bladder Irritation frequently arises from a germ called the colon bacillus, and non-specific germs resulting from colds, bad teeth and other causes. These germs can set up so much irritation in the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages that nature sends a warning through your nerves to your brain that help is needed. Heed this warning now and you may easily avoid many anxious, worrisome hours and days.

HOW CYSTEX HELPS

New Improved Cystex releases a gentle, soothing bacteriostat in acid urine to combat germs which may be causing irritation. This is like a gentle, mildly antiseptic, soothing bath for the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. Cystex also contains two of the very best known analgesics for soothing, gentle pain relief of the discomforts due to common Kidney and Bladder Irritations. Thousands have been amazed to discover how quickly Cystex helped them to combat such irritations thus feel cleansed and refreshed, and because of lessened nerve tension able to sleep better and feel better, and stronger.

Cash on the Calendar

By Bess A. Lee

How much money could you make a week as a mail-order merchant? It all depends on how well you know your merchandise. Try this game and find out.

Paste or tack a discarded page from a large calendar on a piece of thin wood. Circle the numbers 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, and 30 with a red crayon. Drive a small nail or glass pushpin above each of these numbers.

Stand or hang the board against the wall. Give each player three fruit-jar rubbers to toss and a pencil and paper to keep score.

The players take turns tossing a ring, standing six feet from the board. The object is to throw the ring over the nail at one of the largest numbers to get the highest score.

When a player succeeds in ringing one of the circled numbers, he must name some item sold through a mail-order catalog, starting with the same letter as the day of the week above the number. He is allowed one minute to think of an item, and if he fails he loses the number. The same item cannot be named twice in the game.

When each player has had three turns, the rings are returned and the next round is played, using the second letter in the day of the week to start the item. The third letter is used for the next round. The letter U in the days of the week counts as a bonus letter. It stands for an unusually large order and no item need be named for it. The score is doubled on the number below it.

At the end of the third round, the players add up their scores. The one with the highest score has made the most money and is named the most successful merchant. A piggy bank would be a good prize to give.

fabulous fake furs

By IRMA HELDMAN

THESE DAYS you can't tell a leopard by its spots—not a real one anyway, because the fake-fur rage has hit the fashion world and the frauds are frankly fabulous. Oh, the authentic stuff is still around, all right, but a beauty's second-best friend can be mock mink.

Hats come out on top in this make-believe zoo story. In fact, some of the prettiest chapeaux in years come from the imitation animal kingdom. To prove the point, lovely young movie actress Ina Balin, currently appearing in "From the Terrace," models a copy and its counterpart. Before peeking at the captions, try guessing which is which. Aren't the shams (and their prices) simply fantastic and flattering? As every woman knows, in a fur hat, whatever its origin, she not only looks marvelous—she feels that way.

ELECTRICALLY ILLUMINATED

A TRIPLE TURRET MICROSCOPE KIT—"SCHOOL SIZE"

GIVEN TO YOUR CHILD

WITH A FOUR-MONTH TRIAL SUBSCRIPTION TO

Young Readers of America

A BOOK CLUB FOR BOYS AND GIRLS (FROM 8 TO 14)

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF Book-of-the-Month Club

THE PLAN · To encourage—without pressure—a natural love of reading is the sound educational principle of the YOUNG READERS OF AMERICA* plan. It provides—at regular intervals, which is extremely important—authoritative books that are, above all, fun to read. The "library building" habit thus acquired in childhood is the most precious that can be developed in any child. There are two separate series involved, one covering history and the other science. You can subscribe to either one for your child, or to both at a 10% discount.

THE KIT YOU GET INCLUDES: Carrying case, the microscope, instruction manual, 10 prepared slides, 5 blank slides, slide covers, magnifying glass, tweezers, spatula.

(1) THE ALLABOUT BOOKS are comprehensive books about SCIENCE. Each of these volumes—from dinosaurs and astronomy to atoms and sputniks—is written by an eminently qualified science writer and is accurately and profusely illustrated.

(2) THE LANDMARK BOOKS about American and world HISTORY are written by outstanding authors whose reputations were made in the field of serious adult writing—authors like John Gunther, Pearl Buck, Thomas B. Costain, John Mason Brown and many others.

✶ A FOUR-MONTH TRIAL SUBSCRIPTION is suggested, in order to see how your own young reader responds to the idea. To excite and inspire him immediately, he will receive, free, the enrollment gift pictured at left. He will also receive the ALLABOUT or LANDMARK BOOK you select as the first purchase from the two listed in the coupon. At the end of the trial subscription, if you do not feel that the plan is succeeding with your child, you are free to cancel.

✶ THE SYSTEM IS SIMPLE—each month your child will receive a book addressed to him personally. The price to subscribers, lower than the regular retail price, is only $1.75 each, plus a small charge for mailing.

✶ IF YOU DECIDE to subscribe to both series (one ALLABOUT and one LANDMARK BOOK each month) you will receive a discount of 10%, making the special combined price $3.15, plus the postage and handling charge.
